You should carefully consider the risks and uncertainties described below and all of the other information included in this Report when deciding whether to invest in our common stock or otherwise evaluating our business. If any of the following risks or uncertainties materialize, our business, financial condition, or operating results could suffer. In that case, the trading price of our common stock could decline, and you may lose all or part of your investment. Our operations could also be affected by other risks and uncertainties that are not presently known to us or that we currently consider to be immaterial to our operations. Risks Related to Our Business and Industry Failing to maintain and protect our brand, independence, and reputation may harm our business. Our reputation and business may also be ~~harmed~~ negatively impacted by allegations made about possible conflicts of interest, or by other negative publicity or media reports ~~, or by adverse outcomes in regulatory proceedings~~. We believe that the reputation of our company and our brand generally, as well as the perception of our research and ratings products and services, is based on the trust that users of our products and services have in our commitment to our mission ~~of~~ to ~~empowering~~ --- empower investor success ~~, our~~ underscored by principles of independence ~~of editorial judgment~~, ~~our insistence on methodological rigor, and our~~ transparency ~~concerning~~ and long- term focus. Any failures by us to instill in our ~~processes~~ employees the expectation of independence and integrity may devalue our reputation over time and negatively affect both hiring and retention efforts. Any failure to uphold these ~~commitments and~~ standards , and any real or perceived failure of our customers to have consistently positive ~~experience~~ experiences with us could damage our reputation. Our reputation may also be harmed if any errors are found in our products or services. ~~Our ESG offerings has, and may in the future, put Morningstar in the public debate over a variety of issues surrounding climate, environment, social concerns, and corporate governance. Our position as an independent provider of investor choice may cause proponents of certain causes to question the adequacy, completeness and objectivity of our methodologies and models and of the data underlying them; the timing and nature of changes in our ratings or assessments and in other products, such as indexes, built on these ratings and assessments; the independence of our ratings determinations and editorial decisions and the influence of third parties, including governments and large institutional investors or asset owners, on such determinations or decisions; and our role in and influence upon various investment processes. Our position as a leading source of ESG research and opinions may also cause proponents of various causes to demand that we publicly take stands on a variety of controversial topics perceived by them as relevant to investor success or the evolving expectations of businesses; however, we may believe we are unsuited or unprepared to address some or all of these topics. New research and ratings offerings face a challenge to create objective, understandable methodologies in a rapidly developing field currently without widely accepted standards and for which regulatory oversight is emerging. Our methodologies generally are susceptible to potential claims of imprecision, empirical or methodological error, bias and puffery. We evaluate the potential impact of ESG factors on other companies and risk a claim of hypocrisy if we take or fail to take actions at the company level that are or seem inconsistent with our own sustainability and corporate responsibility policies and practices, including publicly disclosed ESG and climate- related targets and goals. Our failure to successfully navigate these issues as they arise from time to time may have an adverse effect on our reputation and our business.~~ As our business has evolved, we have entered , and may in the future enter into, lines of business and business arrangements that may give rise to allegations of conflicts of interest or perceived failures of our independence and objectivity. ~~We~~ For example, we provide ratings, analyst research, and investment recommendations on mutual funds, ETFs and other investment products offered by our institutional clients. While we don' t charge asset management firms for their products to be rated, we do charge licensing fees for the use of our ratings. We also provide investment advisory and investment management services, including through our own series of mutual funds, which expose us to the claim that we are acting as both a referee and a player in the investment management industry. In our credit ratings business and Morningstar Sustainalytics' Sustainable Finance Solutions products we are participants in an issuer- pay business model under which we receive payments from issuers for our ratings rather than from the investors who consume such ratings. These payments may create the perception that our ratings and research in these areas are not independently determined. Certain ~~The expansion~~ of ~~our business over time, including through acquisitions, has resulted in greater exposure to governmental regulation across~~ our product offerings ~~lines and risks that acquired businesses may harbor business practices that could harm our brand. In some cases,~~ such as ~~with respect~~ those offered by Morningstar Sustainalytics have, and may in future, put us at the center of public debate over a variety of issues surrounding sustainability, social concerns, and corporate governance. Scrutiny over sustainability, social concerns and corporate governance may impact the demand for our products. This could lead to negative media coverage, reputational harm ~~our~~ or ~~credit ratings~~ increased government or regulatory scrutiny. Failure to successfully navigate these issues as they arise may have an adverse effect on our reputation and our business ~~, interactions with regulators are extensive and continuous, raising the risk of enforcement investigations and proceedings~~. ~~To the extent any of those investigations~~ In addition our methodology may be scrutinized or may attract ~~proceedings result in a finding of misconduct or noncompliance, they could pose a significant reputational risk to us and negatively impact our business. Regardless of source, allegations of improper conduct, whether the ultimate outcome is favorable or unfavorable to us, as well as~~ negative publicity ~~or media reports about Morningstar and its relationships with third parties, whether valid or not, may harm our reputation and damage our business~~. Our reputation may also be harmed by factors outside of our control, such as news reports about our clients, consultants, or suppliers, regulatory scrutiny, and adverse publicity about certain types of investment and ratings products generally . Scrutiny of our competitors could damage the reputation of the industries that we operate in, which could harm the reputation of the company or certain of our products and services. We may also suffer brand dilution as our brand becomes associated with an increasingly broad array ~~ever more diverse variety~~ of products and services that may align less ~~well~~ directly with our corporate mission ~~. In addition, any failures by us to continue to instill effectively in our employees the non- negotiable expectation of independence and integrity may devalue our reputation over time and negatively affect both hiring and retention efforts~~. Failing to create innovative, proprietary and insightful product and service offerings, keep pace with new investor requirements ~~and~~ , technology developments, and trends, or anticipate our clients' changing needs may negatively affect our competitive position and business results. We believe innovation in financial information services and investable products available to investors and the various advisers and other intermediaries who serve them continues to accelerate. Developments in technology are fundamentally changing the ways investors, financial intermediaries, and other market participants access data and content, allowing for greater personalization of products customized to individual investor profiles and interests ~~, such as direct indexing and sustainability goals- based investing~~. These developments can render our existing products less competitive, obsolete or unmarketable. As a result, our future success will continue to depend upon our ability to identify and develop new products and enhancements that address the future needs of our current and target markets and to deliver them in ways that support our customers' investing needs and business models , and on our ability to keep pace with the competitive landscape for our products. Our core competencies are ~~around~~ data ~~and~~ , research, design, and technology, and we ~~design. Morningstar deploys~~ --- employ each of these to create ~~unique intellectual property,~~ products ~~,~~ built on the depth and ~~solutions~~ breadth of our data that are designed to clearly convey complex investment information ~~to various investors, including individuals, financial advisors, asset managers, retirement plan providers and sponsors, institutional investors in the private capital markets, and participants in the fixed income markets~~. Our customers have access to our research, ~~a wide selection of investment~~ data and ~~, fundamental equity research, manager research, credit~~ ratings ~~, private capital markets research, and ESG data and research,~~ directly on our Morningstar' s ~~s~~ proprietary desktop or web- based software platforms, or through subscriptions, data feeds, and third- party distributors. Our financial technology solutions also allow advisors to serve investors at all stages of the investing process. Morningstar' s managed portfolio offerings help advisors outsource investment selection and asset allocation through proprietary portfolio strategies based on Morningstar' s valuation- driven, fundamentals- based approach to investing. Applying its expertise in asset allocation, investment selection, and portfolio construction, our global investment team creates long- term investment strategies built on Morningstar' s data and ratings. We also help retirement plan sponsors build high- quality savings programs for employees and advise participants in retirement plans on saving for retirement and choosing plan investments. We believe the breadth and depth of our current service offerings set us apart from our competitors, which we believe is a significant competitive advantage. If we fail to continuously innovate , incorporate, deploy and develop , as applicable, new datasets, research, methodologies , AI technologies, content or software to meet the needs of our customers, or fail to successfully communicate such innovations and developments in our offerings to our customers, our competitive position and business results may suffer. In addition, our reputation could be harmed if we are perceived as not moving quickly enough to meet the changing needs of investors or their financial advisors and may sacrifice new business opportunities or renewals from existing customers. These changing needs include a greater expectation that advice be delivered with a high degree of personalization. Investors are also increasingly focused on the security of data we collect from them, as well as the sharing of their data with third parties. Increased interest in alternative asset classes , including a focus on private market offerings, has also created a need for applicable datasets , research and analytical expertise. Our competitive position and business results may suffer if other companies have greater breadth of product offerings or are able to successfully and more quickly introduce innovative, proprietary research tools and software, including through the application of AI technologies. Further, ~~that gain attention~~ despite our investments in, and commitment of resources to, leveraging AI in our products and activities, we may not be successful in generating revenues, creating efficiencies in our processes or generating cost savings from ~~our clients. In addition, the~~ these ~~value~~ efforts. The development of any new ~~our products and services may be negatively affected by the increasing amount of information and tools that are available for free,~~ or updated ~~at low cost, through Internet sources or other low- cost delivery systems, and by the ability of machine learning and other AI systems to process and organize large data sets. The impact of costs- cutting pressures across the industries we serve could lower demand for our products. Also, clients within the financial services industry that~~

~~strive to reduce their operating costs may seek to reduce their spending on our products and services or may build in- house capability to provide the technology or investment advisory services they would otherwise purchase from us. Although we believe our products and services contain value- added features and functionality that deeply embed them in our customers' workflows, these developments may over time reduce the demand for, or customers' willingness to pay for, certain of our products and services. We must make long- term investments and commit significant resources often before knowing whether those investments will result in~~ products or capabilities ~~services that satisfy our clients' needs or generate revenues sufficient to justify the investments. Our software development process is based on frequently rolling out new features so that we can quickly incorporate user feedback. However, at times adoption of new features or enhanced versions is slowed by the significant client investment required for more advanced use cases. In addition, from time to time, we also incur costs to transition clients to new or enhanced products, systems, or services, as well as additional operating expenses supporting multiple platforms for extended periods of time if clients decline to migrate to the new or enhanced products, systems or services. Such transitions~~ can involve material investment, execution risks and challenges and we cannot guarantee that we will successfully adapt our product offerings to meet evolving customer needs or that the transition to such new offerings will be seamless. If we are unable to manage these investments and transitions successfully, our business, financial condition, and results of operations could be materially and adversely affected. As our financial intermediary customers further automate their business processes, their need for our products may change and the technological flexibility and interoperability of our systems may become more important ~~. For example, the COVID- 19 pandemic and the increase in remote and hybrid work environments has accelerated advisor and client demand for digital, friction- free technology and experiences with our turnkey asset management platform, shining a light on dated, legacy operational workflows~~ . In addition, there has been an increasing focus on technology not merely supplying additional tools for users, but also offering solutions to specific client problems, such as those we are seeking to address for wealth advisors through bringing together our multiple wealth management ~~capacities~~ capabilities around asset management, data aggregation and client portfolio management software. We have a myriad of potential technology investments across our product lines and need to prioritize scarce technology development resources to focus on products that best anticipate the needs and priorities of our customers. ~~In addition~~ For example , ~~only~~ in 2024 we made a ~~limited number of employees~~ strategic decision to sunset the Morningstar Wealth TAMP which was expected to require significant resources to maintain and improve, and instead have turned ~~expertise in the software used for certain of~~ our focus to marketing our professionally managed investments products to more advisors across the US ~~. The loss of any such employees could negatively impact our development process~~ . Our technology is also heavily dependent on the quality and comprehensiveness of our data and our ability to successfully build analytics, research, and other intellectual property around that data. For example, in order to provide the personalized holistic advice that clients value, we need to collect ~~,~~ and organize ~~, and protect~~ large, heterogeneous ~~non- homogenous~~ datasets and synthesize and effectively analyze the insights offered by this data. We are investing significant resources in consolidating our various data assets and improving their usability and deliverability across our platform of products. Our competitive position and business results may suffer if we fail to realize the value and potential of our data assets . Additionally, our ability to continue....., which could materially harm our business . Prolonged volatility or downturns affecting the financial sector, global financial markets, and the global economy may impact our financial results. Our business results are partly driven by factors outside of our control ~~,~~ including , but not limited to, general economic and financial market trends which may be impacted by ~~changes in interest rates,~~ availability of credit ~~, inflation rates~~ , changes in laws, trade barriers ~~, commodity prices~~ , currency exchange rates and controls, and national and international geopolitical circumstances and uncertainties. Prolonged economic and financial downturns, sustained volatility in the financial markets, interest and inflation rate fluctuations and periods of stagflation, ~~and a lack of~~ among other conditions impacting investor ~~confidence~~ sentiment can reduce investor interest and investment activity and have, and may in the future, decrease demand for our software, data, analyst ratings, ~~and~~ research products , and decrease net flows of funds into our investment management products. We cannot predict the occurrence, timing or duration of any economic cycle ~~downturn,~~ generally or in the markets in which our businesses operate. Fluctuations in interest rates and rate uncertainty brought on by central bank decisions that have ~~reduce~~ reduced credit issuance ~~has, and~~ in prior periods may ~~continue to,~~ in the future put negative pressure on our credit ratings business. ~~Continued unfavorable trends~~ Our credit ratings business, as well as our SPO business, have been, and may again be, impacted by volatility in ~~the~~ US and international financial ~~market markets environment~~ due to their dependence on the number and dollar volume of debt securities issued in ~~which we operate could cause a corresponding~~ the capital markets. Market disruptions, rising interest rates, widening credit spreads, and economic slowdowns historically have impacted and may in the future impact the volume of debt securities issued in global capital markets and the demand for credit ratings. Demand for credit ratings can also be negatively affected by negative ~~effect on our~~ publicity about the credit ratings business , regulatory and political developments, growth in the use of alternative sources of credit, and defaults by significant issuers. Our ability to reduce costs in the event of such adverse developments can be negatively impacted by, among other things, our obligations to monitor and maintain outstanding ratings. Declines or other changes in the markets for debt securities may materially and adversely affect our business, operating results ~~. As a result~~ , ~~we may experience lower revenue, operating income,~~ and ~~other~~ financial condition ~~results in the event of a sustained market downturn~~ . For our ~~licensed~~ license - based businesses, many of our customers are asset ~~-~~ management and financial advisory firms and other financial- services companies, ~~which~~ who are also subject to ~~external~~ global market trends. The ascendance of passive investment strategies may affect both the profitability of asset managers that focus on actively managed strategies , on whose success we in part depend, and the perceived value of our research regarding actively managed such strategies. A sustained global recession or other financial downturn or crisis would likely lead to material spending cutbacks among ~~many~~ certain of our clients, ~~the companies to which we sell~~ and create longer sales cycles. Consolidation in the financial services sector reduces the number of potential clients for our products and services. Further, clients may discontinue their use of our products and services should they fail and / or merge with or become acquired by other entities that are not our clients or that use fewer of our products and services. These trends could impact demand for our products and services or change the financial services landscape in which we operate , ~~. Many companies in the financial services industry have also been subject to sustained pressure to reduce fees. As a result~~ resulting in lower revenue and ~~, many of these firms have sought to reduce their~~ operating income ~~costs by working with fewer service providers and / or negotiating lower fees for services they purchase~~ . Our PitchBook business is also subject to cyclical trends specific to the private capital markets. Many of PitchBook' s clients are investment banks and other participants in the capital and M & A markets, which are subject to periodic business downturns driven by changes in such markets. During these downturns, they often seek to reduce spending on third- party services, as well as the number of employees, which would directly and adversely affect the number of prospective users for the PitchBook platform. The amount of asset- based revenue we earn primarily depends on the value of assets on which we provide advisory services, and the size of our asset base can increase or decrease based on market performance. Our revenue from asset- based fees has been, and may in the future be, adversely affected by market declines. Asset levels can also be affected if inflows into the portfolios for which we provide investment advisory services drop or if these portfolios experience redemptions. A drop in inflows or an increase in redemptions can result from a variety of factors, including overall market conditions or uncompetitive investment performance. If the level of assets on which we provide investment advisory or investment management services declines ~~goes down~~ , we would expect our fee- based revenue to show a corresponding decline. The industrywide trend toward lower asset- based fees may also impact our fee- based revenue. A shift by investors to non-traditional asset classes such as cryptocurrencies, private debt, real estate, structured products, and collectibles may affect our assets under management if we are unable to incorporate them into our investment strategies or if they fail to perform in the manner that our research anticipates. ~~Our credit ratings business, as well as Morningstar Sustainalytics' Second Party Opinion business, have been, and may continue to be, impacted by volatility in U. S. and international financial markets due to their dependence on the number and dollar volume of debt securities issued in the capital markets. In particular, recently our credit ratings business has, and may continue to be, impacted by reduced issuance of commercial mortgage- backed securities in the United States. Market disruptions, rising interest rates, widening credit spreads and economic slowdowns historically have impacted the volume of debt securities issued in global capital markets and the demand for credit ratings and ESG- related ratings and opinions. Demand for credit ratings can also be negatively affected by negative publicity about the credit ratings business, regulatory and political developments, growth in the use of alternative sources of credit, and defaults by significant issuers. Our ability to reduce costs in the event of such adverse developments can be negatively impacted by, among other things, our obligations to monitor and maintain outstanding ratings. Declines or other changes in the markets for debt securities may materially and adversely affect our business, operating results, and financial condition.~~ Risks Related to Our Information Technology and Security We could face significant reputational and financial consequences relating to cybersecurity and the protection of confidential information, including personal information about individuals. Our business requires that we securely collect, process, store, and transmit confidential information, including personal information, relating to our operations, customers, employees, and other third parties. We continuously invest in systems, processes, controls, and other security measures designed to guard against the risk of improper access to or release of such information. However, these measures do not guarantee absolute security, and improper access to or the release of confidential information may still occur through employee error or malfeasance, system error, ~~other~~ inadvertent release, failure to properly purge and protect data, failure to apply consistent security measures throughout our business , or cyberattack ~~Our products~~ ,We may also be subject to specific obligations relating to personal information and ~~websites in~~ personal financial information.In certain cases ,our products and websites collect,store,process,and transmit personal information about an individual,including financial information such as portfolio holdings,account numbers,and credit card information.Our business also operates across national borders and routinely moves personal information from one jurisdiction to another.Regulators and political leaders in various countries are increasingly interested in restricting cross- border data transfers that they perceive as problematic.We are and our customers often are ~~often~~ subject to federal,state,and foreign laws relating to privacy,cybersecurity,and data protection.The scope of applicable laws may be uncertain and ~~required~~ require practices that may be inconsistent with laws of other jurisdictions .In addition,the proliferation of personal information privacy regimes across the globe has made scalable and comprehensive compliance practices more complex and costly to implement .Consequently,our business is subject to a variety of continuously evolving and possibly conflicting regulations and customer requirements.Our compliance with these changing and increasingly burdensome regulations and requirements may cause us to incur substantial costs or require us to change our business practices , which may impact our financial results.If we fail to timely or adequately comply with these regulations or requirements,we may be exposed to litigation expenses and possible significant liability,fees,or fines. ~~For example,in the EU,noncompliance with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) requirements could result in penalties of up to the greater of € 20 million or 4 % of worldwide revenues.~~ One of our ~~Morningstar' s~~ core strengths is ~~the~~ our ability to collect data and enrich it with data from another part of ~~the~~ our business to provide valuable information and insights to investors.As data is accessible across our products,consistent data privacy practices and disclosure becomes more important and challenging.Failure to comply with our public statements or to adequately disclose our privacy or data protection practices could result in costly investigations by governmental authorities,litigation,and fines , as well as reputational damage and customer loss ~~.We also from time to time acquire other companies that collect and process~~. We may be targeted by ~~malicious individuals~~ actors who are more sophisticated and have more resources than the actors ~~or~~ our security program is designed to protect against. These actors may seek ~~groups (including those sponsored by nation-states or terrorist organizations) seeking~~ to attack our products and services or penetrate our network infrastructure to gain access to intellectual property, confidential or personal information, or to facilitate distributed denial of service attacks. While we have dedicated resources responsible for cybersecurity and have implemented systems and processes intended to help identify cyberattacks and protect and remediate security issues in our software and network infrastructure, these attacks have become increasingly frequent, sophisticated, and difficult to detect. Even in cases where an attack is ultimately detected, based on industry data, incidents may go undetected for several months. Our measures may not be adequate or designed to prevent all eventualities or all types or sources of attacks, and we may be vulnerable to circumvention of security systems, denial of service attacks or other cyberattacks, hacking including " hacktivism ", " phishing " or other social engineering attacks, computer viruses, ransomware or malware, employee or insider error, employee or vendor malfeasance, physical breaches or other malicious actions. We offer a hybrid work environment, which provides employees with the flexibility to work remotely (and use personal devices) which introduces additional and unique risk management challenges. We may also be impacted by a cyberattack targeting one of our vendors or within our technology supply chain or infrastructure, including cloud providers. Our information technology systems interact with those of customers, vendors, and service providers and collect an increasing amount of confidential and other proprietary data as we expand our product and service offerings. As a result, inadequacies of third - party security technologies and practices introduce additional risk to our business in the event of ineffective cybersecurity programs and / or monitoring by these third parties. From time to time, we have acquired, and may in the future acquire, other businesses, and while we conduct due diligence on the technology systems and practices of these companies, there can be no assurance that acquired companies have not suffered data breaches or system intrusions prior to and potentially continuing after our acquisition for which we may be liable. We may face potential identified or unknown security vulnerabilities in acquired products that expose us to additional security ~~risk~~ risks and penalties, or that delay our ability to integrate the product into our service offerings; difficulties in increasing or maintaining at ~~and~~ an acceptable cost the security standards for acquired technology consistent with our other services; difficulty in transitioning the acquired technology onto our existing platforms and customer acceptance of multiple platforms on a temporary or permanent basis; and challenges augmenting the acquired technologies and platforms to the levels that are consistent with our ~~and~~ brand and reputation. In addition, acquired businesses may ~~only be detected after a~~ not have invested as heavily in security measures or data privacy controls ~~breach has occurred. Additionally,~~as we ~~continue to offer a hybrid work environment which provides employees~~ have, and they may introduce additional cybersecurity and data privacy risks as their systems are integrated with ~~the flexibility to work from remote locations we continue to rely on video conferencing, web conferencing and cloud services in order to operate magnifying the importance of the integrity of our~~ ours ~~remote access security measures and which may expose us to additional cyber risks. We are subject to regulatory expectations for the oversight of users, vendors and service providers, which further increase our compliance obligations. In addition, the proliferation of personal information privacy regimes across the globe have made scalable and comprehensive compliance practices ever more complex and costly to implement~~. Any failure to safeguard confidential information or any material cybersecurity failures or incidents in our systems (or the systems of a customer, vendor, or service provider which stores or processes confidential information for which we are responsible, including cloud providers) could result in ~~cause us to experience~~ reputational harm, loss of customers, regulatory actions, sanctions or other statutory penalties, litigation, or financial losses and increased expenses related to addressing or mitigating the risks associated with any such material cybersecurity failures or incidents ~~. In addition to the risks above~~, which could have a material adverse effect on our operating results ~~we may also be subject to specific obligations relating to personal information~~ and ~~personal~~ financial ~~information~~ condition . Our products and websites in certain cases..... required improvements to our systems. The AI technologies ~~we are incorporating into certain of our products and processes~~ may present business, legal, and reputational risks as they are incorporated into our products and tools . We use, and may continue to expand our use of, machine learning and AI technologies into certain of our products and processes. If ~~other firms incorporate AI technologies into their products and offerings more effectively than~~ we ~~do, or if we otherwise~~ fail to keep pace with rapidly evolving AI technological developments or if other firms implement AI technologies more effectively than we do , our competitive position and business results may suffer. ~~At the same time~~ As AI technology is highly complex and rapidly evolving , and our ability to foresee all the legal, operational or technological risks that may arise from our use of AI is limited. Use ~~has recently become the source~~ of ~~significant media attention~~ AI is also the subject to ~~and~~ an political debate evolving governmental and regulatory landscape, which may subject the company to additional scrutiny . The introduction of AI technologies, particularly generative AI, into new or existing offerings may result in errors and new or expanded risks and liabilities, including ~~due to~~ enhanced ~~governmental or~~ compliance obligations and regulatory scrutiny, litigation ~~, compliance issues~~ , ethical concerns, confidentiality or security risks, ~~as well as other factors~~ that could adversely affect our business, reputation, and financial results. For example, AI technologies can lead to unintended consequences and errors , including generating content that appears correct but is factually inaccurate, misleading or otherwise flawed, or that results in unintended biases and discriminatory outcomes, which could harm our reputation and ~~business and expose us to liability. We may also not identify inaccurate information, which may~~ expose us to liability. Laws, regulations or industry standards that develop in response to the use of AI may be burdensome or may significantly restrict the deployment of AI, particularly generative AI technologies, in our products or processes. We have taken steps designed to manage risks related to our adoption of AI; however, these steps may not sufficiently mitigate these risks, which include but are not limited to risks related to employee error or malfeasance, the loss of intellectual property, claims of bias or discrimination, or product liability claims. We may be subject to specific obligations relating to the use of AI technologies ~~from third~~ in our operations or the incorporation of AI technologies in our products and services, including the EU Artificial Intelligence Act (EU AI Act). We expect that regulators in the various global locations we do business in will pursue new rules governing AI, whether through regulations specific to AI or through updating existing laws to incorporate new AI- specific provisions. This evolving regulatory environment may cause us to incur substantial costs or require us to change our business ~~parties~~ practices , which may impact our financial results ~~include open- source software~~ . Any failure ~~If we are unable~~ to ~~maintain rights to use~~ timely or adequately address these regulations, or any future changes to or expanded regulations, may expose us to significant compliance costs, potential liabilities or fines. AI technologies ~~on commercially reasonable terms, we~~ may use ~~be forced to acquire~~ or ~~develop alternate AI technologies, which may limit or delay our ability to provide competitive offerings and may increase our costs. These AI technologies also may~~ incorporate data from third- party sources, which may expose us to risks associated with data rights and protection ~~,~~and may also lead to the unintended consequences of using AI discussed above. ~~The~~ Current laws and court decisions governing intellectual property ownership and license rights ~~surrounding~~ may not address new questions relating to AI technologies , which may negatively affect our ability to safeguard our intellectual property, as well as increase ~~data protection laws related to~~ the ~~use~~ compliance costs associated with navigating ~~and~~ an uncertain legal and ~~development of AI are currently not fully addressed by courts or regulators~~ regulatory environment . The use or adoption of AI technologies into our products may ~~result in exposure~~ -- expose us to claims ~~by third parties~~ of copyright infringement or other intellectual property misappropriation by third parties , which may require us to pay compensation or license fees . In addition to ~~third parties~~ the implementation of AI in our tools and products, there is risk associated with the implementation of AI technologies by competitors or disruptors . The value of our products and services may be negatively affected by the increasing amount of information and external tools that are available for free, or at low cost, through Internet sources that use AI to scrape data – including our own content – from the Internet. These technologies integrate machine learning abilities and other AI systems to process and organize large data sets aggregated from products that previously were paid for, posing an external risk to our product suite. The rapidly evolving ~~legal,~~ regulatory environment ~~and compliance framework~~ for AI technologies may also impact our ability to protect our own data and intellectual property against infringement through ~~. Our business, products and facilities are at risk of a number of material disruptive events, including an outage of our database, technology- based products and services or network facilities, which our operational risk management and business continuity programs and insurance coverage may not be adequate to address. Our business and several of our major products are dependent on our ability to provide data, software applications, and other products and services on a current and time- sensitive basis. We rely extensively on our computer systems, database storage facilities, and other network infrastructure, which are located across multiple facilities in the~~ these AI ~~U. S. and globally. Our computer systems, database and network facilities may be vulnerable to~~ external tools ~~attacks that misappropriate our data, corrupt our databases, or limit access to our information systems. Further, our operations and those of our vendors and customers are at risk of disruptions from numerous factors, including pandemic, violent incident, natural disaster, power loss, terrorist attack, telecommunications and Internet failures, civil unrest, cybersecurity attacks and breaches, and other events beyond our reasonable control. Our exposure to these types of disruptions may be more acute in circumstances where our business activities expose us to potential controversy and opposition, including various ESG- related matters. We are also subject to potential shortcomings in our own business resilience practices, such as failures to fully understand dependencies between different business processes across the locations in which they are performed, inadequate vendor risk assessment and management processes and critical vendor dependencies, concentration of certain critical activities in areas of geopolitical risk, concentration~~

~~of certain skills and know- how with small groups of key employees, and possibly ineffective recovery strategies in the event of a disruption. As we have grown in recent years through acquisitions and continue to do so in the future, the newly acquired businesses may not have invested in technological infrastructure and disaster recovery to the same extent as we have. As their systems are integrated into ours, a vulnerability could be introduced, which could impact our platforms across the company. We engage third party vendors in several locations, including Colombia, India, and Ukraine, which provide contract labor in support of our operations. If a pandemic, war, natural disaster, violent incident, or another dangerous emergency significantly impacted the safety or communication connectivity of people living in and around these locations and / or at our significant office locations including but not limited to our corporate headquarters in Chicago, Illinois and our data collection, technology, and operational center in Mumbai, India, we might not be able to continue business operations at an acceptable level that would meet all our legal and contractual commitments. Each of these locations has experienced or may in the future experience various types of geopolitical risks and changes in laws and regulations relating to data privacy, security, protection of intellectual property rights, and acceptable telecommunication infrastructure which create uncertainty regarding our long- term operations there. Any extended disruptions to our operations in these locations would make it difficult for us to meet our operating goals. We do have a long- standing relationship with a third- party vendor in Ukraine which provides contract labor in support of development efforts at PitchBook. Our team has provided financial help and other assistance to these individuals and to date, we have been able to maintain the operations conducted by our contractors in Ukraine at an acceptable level. Through advanced preparation and business continuity planning, there has been limited disruption to the operations of PitchBook or our clients' access to the platform. However, the situation remains volatile and our team continues to monitor new developments to guard against negative impacts to our operations. We have shifted the storage of a majority of our data and delivery of several of our products and services to cloud- based delivery systems. We rely on cloud providers and other vendors to maintain, service, and improve our technological infrastructure, which underpins and protects our data, research, and other products and services. Some of these providers have recently experienced widely reported service disruptions that affected numerous customers including ourselves. To defend against these threats, we have implemented a series of controls focusing on both prevention and detection, including firewalls, intrusion detection systems, automated scanning and testing, server hardening, antivirus software, training, and patch management. We make significant investments in servers, storage, and other network infrastructure to prevent incidents of network failure and downtime, but we cannot guarantee that these efforts will work as planned. If disruptions, failures, or slowdowns of these electronic delivery systems or the Internet occur, our ability to distribute our products and services effectively and to serve our customers could be negatively impacted. In addition, the daily activities and productivity of our work force is now closely tied to key vendors, such as video conferencing services, to consistently deliver their services without material disruption. Our ability to deliver information using the Internet and to operate in a hybrid working environment may be impaired because of infrastructure failures, service outages at third- party Internet providers, malicious attacks, or other factors. If disruptions, failures, or slowdowns of these electronic delivery systems or the Internet occur, our ability to distribute our products and services effectively and to serve our customers may be impaired. We primarily rely on a third party to provide backup facilities for our data. We cannot guarantee that these facilities will not be impacted by interruptions in the future. We may not be able to fully recover data or information lost during a database or network facility outage impacting the provider of our backup facilities. Any losses, service disruption, or damages incurred by us could have a material adverse effect on our business, operating results, or financial condition. Although we maintain insurance, at levels we believe to be appropriate, this insurance may not provide adequate protection in the event of a loss. Additionally, the existence, magnitude and impact of the risks we face often remain unknown for substantial periods of time. These risks could damage our brand and reputation, result in litigation, regulatory actions, sanctions or other statutory penalties, lead to loss of customer confidence in our business operations, including the security and reliability of our products, services and system, any of which could harm our ability to retain customers and gain new ones, result in financial losses for which we are not insured or adequately insured, and could lead to increased expenses to address or mitigate any damages or disruptions~~ . We could face liability for failing to ~~adequately~~ properly protect or ~~properly~~ use the information and data we collect, store, use, create, and distribute or the reports and other documents we publish or that are produced by our software products. We may be subject to claims for securities law violations, defamation (including libel and slander), negligence, or other claims relating to the information we publish, including our research and ratings. For example, investors may take legal action against us if they rely on published information that contains an error, or a company may claim that we have made a defamatory statement about it or its employees. In addition, in our business ~~component~~ unit containing our credit ratings offerings, we have access to significant amounts of material nonpublic information on issuers of securities ~~, the~~ and if such information is ~~inadvertent~~ inadvertently ~~disclosure~~ -- disclosed ~~of which,~~ or ~~the misappropriation~~ misappropriated by employees or others, we could be ~~expose~~ exposed ~~us~~ to various liabilities under securities and other laws. Less significant errors could still require us to remove ratings, research, or data temporarily which could diminish the perceived value of the product or cause us to be deficient in our service- level agreements with clients that require us to meet certain obligations for delivering time- sensitive, up- to- date data and information. Some of our products support the investment processes or the client account reporting practices and other activities of our clients who manage significant assets of other parties. Use of our products as part of such activities creates the risk that clients, or the parties whose assets are managed by our clients, may pursue claims against us for losses that may have some connection to our products, and we may be subject to investigation of our products and their use by government regulators who regulate the business of our clients. In the case of software products, even though most of our contracts for such products contain limitations of our liability in such cases, we may be required to compensate such clients or their customers for losses in order to maintain our business relationships. We could also be subject to claims based on the content that is accessible from our website through links to other websites. Products and enhancements we develop or license have contained, and in the future may contain, undetected errors or defects despite testing or other quality assurance practices. Use of our products or services as part of the investment process and other activities creates the risk that our customers, investors, the companies that we rate or assess across our products , or the shareholders of those companies, may pursue claims against us based on even a small error in our data, calculations, methodologies, input, or analysis , or a malfunction or failure in our systems, products or services ~~. We rely on a variety of outside parties as the original sources for the information we use in our published data and research. These sources include securities exchanges, fund companies, hedge funds, transfer agents, issuers, and other data providers. We also incorporate data from a variety of third- party sources for many of our products. Accordingly, in addition to possible exposure for publishing incorrect information that results directly from our own errors, we could face liability based on inaccurate data provided to us by others. For example, our Morningstar Sustainalytics business component is reliant on self- reported information for some of its issuer- focused ESG ratings and analysis. We also face the risk that a significant data source terminates its distribution of the data to us, which could impact our products, research, or other calculations that utilize that information~~ . We could be subject to claims by providers of data and information we compile from websites and other sources that we have improperly obtained that data in violation of the source' s copyrights or terms of use. We could also be subject to claims from third parties, such as securities exchanges from which we license and redistribute data and information, that we have used or redistributed the data or information in ways not permitted by our license rights or that we have inadequately permissioned our clients to use such data. The agreements with such exchanges and other data providers give them extensive data use audit rights, and such audits can be expensive and time consuming and potentially result in substantial ~~fines~~ fees becoming payable . We could also be subject to claims from regulators that we have mishandled private ratings or nonpublic data and information, in particular in our business ~~component~~ unit containing our credit ratings products. These regulatory bodies have audit rights regarding our data use which could have similar adverse consequences in terms of time, expense, or fines. Defending claims based on the information we publish could be expensive and time- consuming and could adversely impact our business, operating results, and financial condition. Additionally, we use and incorporate open- source code in our software development and our products, which could expose us to additional security risks, impede our ability to commercialize our products and services, and lead to additional costs. Security vulnerabilities with the use of open- source software could impact our products and services, which may result in the need for change control, testing and potential re- engineering efforts that could increase costs and impact our software development and products. Generally, open- source licenses will not contain warranties against infringement claims, or covering the quality or security of the code, and some licenses contain provisions requiring the public release of our proprietary source code if it is combined with the open- source code in a certain manner. The public release of our proprietary source code will put us at a competitive disadvantage, allowing competitors to develop similar products in less time and with minimal development efforts. In addition, many open- source licenses contain provisions which are ambiguous and have not been interpreted by US ~~U. S.~~ or other courts. Any unanticipated restrictions or conditions on our ability to use, or claims involving our use of, open- source licenses could require us to seek alternative third- party licenses at increased costs or reduced scope, re- engineer products or systems, or discontinue the licensing of certain products. Finally, our global business regularly seeks to optimize our data storage in order to improve information accuracy and streamline the technology, which supports our business operations. These efforts ~~are~~ may be constrained by data privacy legislation, such as the General Data Protection Regulation ( GDPR ) , which ~~defines standards for~~ includes obligations regarding storage, transfer, and use of ~~certain~~ personal information from and about individuals, and which may limit the processing of information about individuals outside their home jurisdictions. Legislation aimed at protecting material nonpublic information or mitigating potential conflicts of interest further define how certain information can be accessed and retained which may result in less efficient or higher cost technological processes and infrastructure. Failure to protect our intellectual property rights, or claims of intellectual property infringement against us, could harm our brand, our financial performance and our ability to compete effectively. ~~The steps we have taken to protect our intellectual property may not be adequate to safeguard our brand, proprietary information and competitive advantage.~~ We rely primarily on patent, trademark, copyright, and trade secret rights, as well as contractual protections and technical safeguards, to protect our intellectual property rights and proprietary information. ~~Despite~~ However, these ~~efforts~~ steps may not be adequate to safeguard our brand , proprietary information and competitive advantage, and third parties may still be able to challenge, invalidate, or circumvent our rights or improperly obtain our proprietary information. Further, we may not be able to effectively utilize trademark, copyright, and trade secret protection in every country in which we offer our services or utilize our intellectual property. We believe our trademark rights with respect to the " Morningstar " name and logo, along with our subsidiaries' names and logos represent materially valuable intangible assets. From time We have encountered and may continue to time, we encounter jurisdictions in which one or more third parties have a pre- existing trademark registration in certain relevant international trademark classes that may prevent us from registering these or other marks in those jurisdictions. Our continued ability to use the " Morningstar " name or logo, either on a stand- alone basis or in association with certain products or services, could be compromised in those jurisdictions because of these pre- existing registrations. Similarly, from time to time, we have encountered and may continue to encounter situations in certain jurisdictions where one or more third parties are already using the " Morningstar " name, either as part of a registered corporate name, a registered domain name, or otherwise. Our ability to effectively market certain products and / or services or obtain adequate trademark protection in those locations could be adversely affected by these pre- existing usages. We have from time to time been and may continue to be subject to claims by third parties alleging infringement of their intellectual property rights. Such claims can also be alleged against clients, customers, or distributors of our products or services whom we have agreed to indemnify against third party claims of infringement. The defense of such claims can be costly and consume valuable management time and attention. We may be forced to settle such claims on unfavorable terms, which can include the payment of damages, the entry into royalty or licensing arrangements on commercially unfavorable terms, or the suspension of our ability to offer affected products or services. If litigation were to arise from any such claim, there can be no certainty we would prevail in it. If any of these risks were to materialize, it could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, operating results or reputation. In addition, we are and continue to be susceptible to website spoofing attacks, where fraudulent websites are created to closely resemble our brand, products and offerings and are designed to lure potential clients to share personal sensitive information, such as login credentials, social security numbers, credit card information, bank account numbers, and in some instances send money to individuals portraying to be associated with our entities and brands. In addition to individual losses triggered by these attacks, these spoofing attacks could harm our brand and , our reputation , and negatively impact our ability to attract new clients and customers. Risks Related to Legal and Regulatory Matters Compliance failures, regulatory action, or changes in laws could adversely affect our business. The laws, rules, and regulations, and their interpretations, applicable to our business are extensive and , may change in the future and may be inconsistent or vary by jurisdiction. We have not always been able to, and in the future may not be able to , comply with these changes or variances in the laws, rules and regulations applicable to our businesses without making extensive changes to our business practices. In the recent past, the scope and pace of global regulatory change has both increased and involved shorter compliance time frames, which has increased both the risk that we may fail to properly and timely identify , and adequately respond to the regulatory changes applicable to our operations and the risk that we may fail to implement such changes on a timely and complete basis . Regulations aimed at increasing transparency for investors or providing individuals greater control over their own data may devalue the investments we have made in our data sets or reduce their use cases. In addition, the broad , diverse and global scope of our business operations makes it more difficult to monitor areas that may be subject to regulatory and compliance risk , as well as monitor and implement changes that may vary by jurisdiction . If we fail to comply with any applicable law, rule, or regulation, we could be fined, sanctioned, or barred from providing certain products and services in the future, which could adversely affect our reputation, business and financial results. We are subject to various anti- corruption laws that prohibit improper payments or benefits or offers of payments or benefits to foreign governments and their officials and, in some cases, to employees of a business for the purpose of directing, obtaining or retaining business. We conduct business in countries and regions with anti- corruption laws that are less developed may vary in substance, complexity and application when compared to than that of the U. S. and in some cases are generally recognized as potentially more corrupt business environments. Our activities in these -- the countries create the risk of US, which could result in unauthorized payments or offers of payments by one of our employees or agents that could may be in violation of various anti- corruption laws including the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act of 1977, as amended (FCPA) and the U . While we K. Bribery Act 2010 among other similar laws prohibiting bribery or corruption. We have implemented policies and trainings to discourage prohibit these types of practices by our employees and agents . However , they our policies, trainings, processes or future improvements thereof, may prove to be less than fully effective, and our employees or agents may engage in conduct for which we might be held responsible. If employees violate our policies or we fail to maintain adequate record- keeping and internal accounting practices to accurately record our transactions , we may be subject to regulatory fines, sanctions, damages or other penalties or costs . Violations of any of these laws , including the FCPA and may incur expenses relating to government investigations, inquires, or subpoenas other anti- corruption laws , may result in severe criminal or civil sanctions and penalties, damage our brand and reputation and subject us to other liabilities which could have a material adverse effect on our business, operating results, or financial condition and may damage our brand and reputation . Additionally, as we have engage in global business activities, we are subject to international trade restraints , including economic and financial sanction laws and embargoes administered by the US U. S. Treasury Department' s Office of Foreign Assets Controls, which prohibit or restrict the sale or supplying of certain products and services to embargoed or sanctioned countries, regions, governments, individuals, and entities. Although we have policies and procedures in place to promote compliance with such laws, there can be no assurance that they will be followed at all times or effectively detect and prevent all violations of such laws. These international trade restraints have impacted, and may in the future impact our ability to continue to market and / or sell our products and services in these geographies, resulting in loss in revenue , and subject us to significant fines and penalties or cause us to incur expenses relating to government investigations, inquiries, or subpoenas if we fail to comply. While we have established policies and trainings aimed at preventing these types of activities, they may be ineffective . Furthermore, new, and additional trade restrictions may be introduced at any time and may require us to change our operations and increase our risk of noncompliance . We , and may be exposed expose us to increased compliance costs as , which could have a result of these changes. Failure to comply with these laws and regulations can subject us to significant fines and penalties and have material adverse effects effect on our reputation, brand, business, operating operations , and financial results and financial condition . Several of our businesses are highly regulated throughout the world and the regulatory environment is increasingly complicated and rapidly evolving. The expansion of our business over time, including through acquisitions, has resulted in greater exposure to governmental regulation across our product lines. In some cases, such as with our credit ratings business, interactions with regulators are extensive and continuous, which is increasingly costly and resource intensive to manage. To the extent any of those interactions result in a finding of noncompliance, they could pose a significant reputational risk to us, expose us to fines, sanction and penalties and negatively impact our business. Regardless of source, allegations of improper conduct, whether the ultimate outcome is favorable or unfavorable to us, as well as negative publicity or media reports about Morningstar and its relationships with third parties, whether valid or not, may harm our brand and reputation and damage our business. Morningstar DBRS, our credit ratings business, operates in a highly regulated environment in Canada, the US U. S. , the UK U. K. , and the EU , requiring . The laws and regulations governing credit ratings impose substantial ongoing compliance obligations with and costs and subject Morningstar DBRS to regular regulatory examinations and occasional investigations, relating to the company itself or sometimes to the credit ratings industry as a whole. These laws and regulations that govern may impose new or expanded requirements which could impact the day- to- day operations, our customers and the users of our credit ratings. At times, the scope, interpretation, and administration of these laws and regulations may also be uncertain, inconsistent across geographies and difficult to fully reconcile in a cost- efficient manner. Further, many aspects of credit ratings agency policies and practices and their compliance with applicable law, regulations, contracts and license arrangements are not the subject of definitive regulatory guidance or case law. Maintaining compliance with any expanded requirements that may be imposed by these laws and regulations can be time consuming and require significant resources. Morningstar DBRS is also subject to regular regulatory examinations and occasional investigations, which are time consuming and can impact day- to- day operations. Three of our subsidiaries, Morningstar Investment Management LLC (MIM), Morningstar Investment Services LLC, and Morningstar Research Services LLC, are registered as investment advisers with the SEC under the Advisers Act . In , which subjects them to requirements related to record- keeping, reporting and standards of care, in addition , in to fiduciary obligations owed to the their clients case of MIM' s advisory relationship with the Morningstar Funds Trust, it is subject to the Investment Company Act of 1940 and the Commodity Exchange Act . Morningstar Investment Services is also a broker / dealer registered under the Exchange Act and is subject to the rules of FINRA. Advisers The Morningstar Funds Trust is a registered open- end mutual fund for which MIM acts as the investment advisor under an investment management agreement, and, as a result, also subjects MIM to regulation under the Investment Company Act requirements primarily relate to record- keeping, reporting, and standards of 1940 and care, as well as general anti- fraud prohibitions. Registered investment advisers have several fiduciary obligations to their -- the Commodity Exchange Act clients including obligations of good faith and full and fair disclosure of all facts material to the client' s engagement of the adviser, to provide investment advice suitable for the particular client, to have a reasonable, independent basis for investment recommendations, of best execution, and to vote client proxies in the best interests of the client . As registered investment advisers, these subsidiaries are subject to on- site examination by the SEC. In addition, in cases where these subsidiaries provide investment advisory services to retirement plans and their participants, they may be acting as fiduciaries under ERISA . As , which requires them to meet and uphold various fiduciaries fiduciary under ERISA, they have obligations to act in the best interest of their clients. They also have duties of loyalty and prudence, as well as duties to diversify investments and to follow plan documents to comply with the applicable portions of ERISA . We may face liabilities for actual or claimed breaches of our fiduciary duties, particularly in areas where we provide retirement or investment advice and managed retirement accounts. In some of our retirement contracts, we act as an ERISA fiduciary by, for example, selecting and monitoring a broad range of diversified plan options. We also provide a managed account service for retirement plan participants who elect to have their accounts managed by our programs. Such activities have been are, and in the future may again be, the subject of extensive class action litigation, including one such proceeding involving us that was dismissed in which we have been named . Many of our asset management and financial advisor clients are similarly regulated. If our license products and services fail to satisfy the regulatory requirements applicable to these clients, we may lose their business. Our regulated investment services operations are subject to regulation in markets outside the US U. S . Post Brexit, we made a strategic decision to restrict the provision of regulated investment management activity to EU domiciled clients in part to reduce regulatory risk. Errors in our automated advisory tools may subject us to liability for any losses that result. We rely on automated investment technology for our retirement advice and managed retirement accounts services. The Wealth Forecasting Engine is our core advice and managed accounts engine that determines appropriate asset allocations for retirement plan participants and assigns individuals to portfolios. We also rely on automated portfolio construction tools. As these become more interconnected with other product offerings, including the technology of clients and other third parties, the increasing complexity of the technology requires more expertise and efforts to manage and test. Problems could arise if these programs do not work as intended, particularly if we failed to detect program errors over an extended period and are found to be liable for such errors, which may include liability for breach of our fiduciary duty or applicable law. Such program errors may not be detected despite our quality assurance practices. There is a need to continually invest in training to develop and maintain in- house expertise to manage these systems effectively and to educate recordkeeper and retirement plan clients and participants in the capabilities, proper use, and competitive differentiation of these offerings, which can be costly and time consuming. We seek to constantly innovate and improve our retirement services offering, for example to add new capabilities around modeling and advising on income generating products, and in doing so, we regularly release new versions of the technology and update our methodology. Additional customer support may be needed to ensure that clients implement the new versions and updates properly and understand the implications for their plan participants, including issues concerning suitability of certain strategies. More resources may also be required to continue to support legacy versions of the Wealth Forecasting Engine that continue to be used by certain clients. If we make an error, we may be subject to potentially large liabilities for make- whole payments and / or litigation. We believe the continued and future success of our business relies depends to a significant extent upon the continued service of our executive officers, including Joe Mansueto, our executive chairman, and Kunal Kapoor, our chief executive officer, senior business and functional leaders and other key employees. However, the talents and experience of these individuals make them attractive candidates to many of our competitors, as well as to early- stage companies that can offer the potential for outsize financial rewards if they are successful. Thus, competition for these employees is intense and the loss of such business leaders or our failure to adequately plan for such a loss, could pose substantial challenges to our business. We may not be able to retain these leaders and employees or to develop and retain similar highly qualified personnel in the future, which may cause us to lose potential or existing clients , and suffer which could adversely impact our operating results and financial condition. We are dependent on third- party service providers in our operations. We rely on a decline variety of outside parties as the original sources for the information we use in revenues our published data and research. These sources include securities exchanges, fund companies, hedge funds, transfer agents, issuers, and other data providers. We also incorporate data from a variety of third- party sources for many of our products. There is a sole source dependency risk on certain data suppliers for data feeds that are not diversified. A degradation in their service could have a negative impact on our products, exposing us to downstream risk in the event of their failure . In addition, and .Additionally, our brand.Our ability to continue to innovate and develop new products is reliant on the products of other vendors,including data,software and services vendors.Some of our products and offerings are dependent upon obtaining updates from data vendors as well as dependent on continuing access to current and historical data.Furthermore,many of our vendors are also competitors,and our ability to continue to provide our products and develop new products could be impacted if the vendors terminate our agreements with them or decide to change the terms or restrict use of the data and products,which could materially harm our business we are unable currently exposed to maintain rights to use rising wage scales in most of the these employment markets in AI technologies on commercially reasonable terms, we may be forced to acquire or develop alternate AI technologies, which may limit our - or delay our ability to provide competitive offerings and may increase our costs. A failure by a third- party service provider could expose us to an inability to provide contractual services to our clients in a timely manner. Additionally, if a third- party service provider is unable to provide these services, we may incur significant costs to either internalize some of these services or find a suitable alternative. We are located subject to regulatory expectations for the oversight of vendors and service providers, including the EU' s Digital Operational Resilience Act , which negatively affect further increase our compensation compliance obligations and costs. A failure in the Inflationary pressures, strong stock performance of our due diligence processes and controls related to the supervision and oversight of these firms in detecting and addressing conflicts of interest, fraudulent activity, data breaches and cyberattacks our - or noncompliance sector, and shortages of applicants with relevant securities certain skills put upward pressure on wages. Shifting preferences regarding remote work flexibility and a backlog of immigration applications may further complicate our talent acquisition efforts. Our future success also depends on the other laws could cause us to suffer financial continued service of our executive officers, including Joe Mansueto, our executive chairman and largest shareholder, and Kunal Kapoor, our chief executive officer. The loss of Mansueto , Kapoor, expose us to regulatory sanctions or damage to other executive officers could hurt our business, operating results, or our reputation financial condition. We do not have employment agreements or noncompete agreements in place with any of our executive officers. They may leave us and work for our competitors or start their own competing businesses . Our business is complex and has experienced significant growth in recent years which could strain our resources and infrastructure, and if we are unable to effectively scale our operations and increase productivity, we may not be able to successfully implement our business plan. Our business has and continues to experience significant growth in our diversity wide array of products and services and operational scale, which has placed a strain on and in the future may stress the capabilities of our management, administrative, operational and financial infrastructure. Significant additional investments, both in terms of management attention and one- time and annual costs, have been and are expected to continue to be required to effectively scale our operations and increase productivity across our organization, to address the needs of our customers, to further develop and enhance our products and services, to expand into new geographic areas, and to increase our operating margin over time. Such additional investments will increase our cost base, making it more difficult for us to offset any future revenue shortfalls by reducing expenses in the short term. We may not be able to make these investments as quickly or effectively as necessary to successfully and competitively scale our operations. Additionally, we have and may continue to dispose of businesses and reallocate resources to our other businesses and products we believe will help scale our business. In 2024, we made the decision to sunset our US TAMP and enter into a strategic alliance with AssetMark where they own the technology platform, allowing us to reallocate resources that would otherwise be used to maintain and improve our platform, to the expansion of our professionally managed investments products to more advisors across the US, which we believe is the best way to scale our business in the US. In 2024, we also made a strategic decision to dispose of our Commodity and Energy Data business, as we believed it was not a strategic focus for our business, allowing us to focus on other areas of our business. While we believe these strategic decisions will allow us to best scale our business, we cannot be certain that such reallocations will be successful in doing so. We regularly upgrade or replace our various software and data offerings and our operating systems and processes. If implementations are delayed, or if we encounter unforeseen problems with our upgraded or new offerings, systems and processes or in migrating away from existing offerings, systems and processes, our operations and our ability to manage our business could be negatively impacted. Our Morningstar' s growth also places increasing demands on our functional resources to scale and optimize globally and to balance global consistency with local flexibility. Our sales and marketing teams are focused on multi- product- based strategies to bring the breadth of our offerings and the full value of our intellectual property to our customers. However, such sales efforts can breed customer confusion, implicate regulatory limits on how certain products or services can be sold and by whom in certain jurisdictions, and if coupled with misaligned incentive structures, can create opportunities for misconduct or excessive risk taking. Additional complexity also creates a need for clear responsibilities and ownership across various global teams within Morningstar our company , which we may not be successful in implementing. We Morningstar is fortunate to have many opportunities for global growth in its strategic plan, however, we cannot be certain that further growth or profitability will be at the same or higher level given the headwinds of deglobalization and political, regulatory, and cultural fragmentation. Our success will depend in part upon the ability of our senior management – including the senior management of any companies we acquire — to manage our business and strategies plans for growth efficiently. To do so, we must continue to increase the productivity and effectiveness of our existing employee base and to hire, train and manage new employees who can meet or exceed our standards. During 2023, we undertook workforce reductions in certain areas of our business to strengthen the financial footing of the consolidated company. We cannot guarantee that these actions will achieve our intended results in the long- term, and these efforts also subject us to risks such as greater than anticipated costs, adverse effects on employee retention, and increased difficulty managing the scale and complexity of our business. Our hybrid office model and any adjustments made to our current and future office environments may not meet our productivity expectations, on the one hand, and the expectations of our workforce, on other hand, which could negatively impact our growth plans and our ability to attract and retain our employees. We will need to continue to improve our operational, financial and management controls, our reporting systems and procedures, our uses of automation and AI systems to increase productivity, and our utilization of real estate. If we fail to successfully scale our operations and increase productivity, we may be unable to execute our business plan and the value of our company could decline. The investment we make and additional resources we use to expand our operations, target new international customers and expand our presence globally may not produce desired levels of revenue or profitability, which could adversely affect our business and operating results. Our strategic transactions, acquisitions and investments in companies or technologies may not realize result in the expected business or financial benefits , ultimately having and an acquisitions could prove difficult to integrate, disrupt our business, dilute stockholder value and adversely -- adverse affect effect on our operating results and the market our ability to deliver long- term value of to our shareholders common stock . As a means to implement our business strategy, we periodically evaluate and make investments in, or acquisitions of, complementary businesses, services and technologies, and intellectual property rights, and expect to continue to make such investments and acquisitions in the future. However, there can be no assurance we can identify suitable investment or acquisition candidates at acceptable prices. In addition, although we conduct robust due diligence through cross- functional teams when making an acquisition, each acquisition presents potential challenges and risks, including the following: – From a technology perspective, we may face potential identified or ~~unknown security vulnerabilities in acquired products that expose us to additional security risks and penalties or delay our ability to integrate the product into our service offerings; difficulties in increasing or maintaining at an acceptable cost the security standards for acquired technology consistent with our other services; difficulty in transitioning the acquired technology onto our existing platforms and customer acceptance of multiple platforms on a temporary or permanent basis; and challenges augmenting the acquired technologies and platforms to the levels that are consistent with our brand and reputation. From a human resources perspective, we may face~~ difficulties in assimilating, integrating, or retraining acquired employees ~~, which may lead to retention risk with respect to both key acquired employees and our existing key employees or disruption to existing teams~~ ; ~~–~~ differences between our values and those of our acquired companies, as well as disruptions to our workplace culture; ~~–~~ ~~difficulties in and financial costs of addressing acquired compensation structures inconsistent with our compensation structure; and additional stock- based compensation issued or assumed in connection with the acquisition, including the impact on stockholder dilution and our results of operations. From an operational perspective, we may face~~ diversion of financial and managerial resources from existing operations; ~~–~~ challenges relating to the potential entry into new markets in which we have little experience or where competitors may have stronger market positions; ~~–~~ difficulties in integrating acquired operations, including challenges with the acquired company' s customers and partners ~~, including our ability to maintain such relationships and changes to perception of the acquired business as a result of the acquisition~~ ; ~~–~~ challenges with the acquired company' s third- party service providers ~~, including those that are required for ongoing access to third- party data~~ ; ~~–~~ challenges ~~in incorporating~~ with integrating the acquired ~~company~~ companies' technology ~~s disaster recovery and cyber security protocols with those of Morningstar; the potential for acquired products to impact the profitability of existing products; and in the case of foreign acquisitions~~ , ~~challenges caused by integrating operations over distance,~~ and ~~–~~ ~~across different languages, cultures and political environments. From a financial perspective, we may face~~ challenges and costs relating to known and potential unknown liabilities , technology or security vulnerabilities or regulatory investigations associated with the acquired businesses . From time to time, we engage in dispositions and divestitures of assets and entities, as a means to implement our business strategy , including ~~due to litigation; difficulties~~ the recent disposal of certain of our US TAMP assets and the sale of our Commodity and Energy Data business in ~~managing~~ 2024. The strategic transactions we ultimately pursue may be subject to various closing conditions , including review or ~~potential write- offs of~~ approval by foreign and domestic regulatory authorities , ~~acquired assets~~ which we may not obtain on a timely basis or ~~investments~~ at all , ~~and potential~~ which could adversely impact our financial and ~~credit risks~~ operating results. In addition, strategic transactions may present financial, managerial and operational challenges such as diversion of managerial resources from core business functions, increased expenses associated with ~~acquired~~ the transaction, potential disputes with customers , suppliers, or ~~, difficulties in retaining the clients of acquired~~ acquirers of disposed assets, and failure to achieve the expected economic benefits of the transaction, any of which could have a material adverse effect on our ~~businesses~~ business and operating ~~; negative impact to our~~ results ~~of operations because of the depreciation and amortization of acquired intangible assets, fixed assets and operating lease right- of- use assets; the loss of acquired unearned revenue and unbilled unearned revenue; delays in customer purchases due to uncertainty related to the acquisition; ineffective or inadequate financial controls, procedures and policies at the acquired company; and the tax effects of any such acquisitions including related integration and business operation changes, and assessment of the impact on the realizability of our future tax assets or liabilities~~ . We also have made , and expect to continue to make, various investments in companies where we do not have or obtain a controlling interest. Such investments are motivated both by their prospective financial return and the access they give us to certain new technologies, products, business ideas, and management teams. While we obtain various rights in connection with such investments, the future value of such investments is highly dependent on the management skill of the managers of those companies, among other factors. Our ~~Finally, our~~ ability to acquire or dispose of other businesses or technologies, make strategic investments or integrate acquired businesses effectively may be impaired by trade tensions and increased global scrutiny of foreign investments and acquisitions and investments in the technology sector. For example, several countries, including the US ~~U. S.~~ and countries in Europe and the Asia- Pacific region, are considering or have adopted restrictions of varying kinds on transactions involving foreign investments. Antitrust authorities in a number of countries have also reviewed acquisitions and investments in the technology industry with increased scrutiny. Governments may continue to adopt or tighten restrictions of this nature, and such restrictions or government actions could negatively impact our acquisition and investment opportunities, business and financial results. Acquisitions or divestitures may expose us to litigation from our shareholders or other third parties, which, even if unsuccessful, could be costly to defend and serve as a distraction to management. The goodwill of our business and other intangible assets from our acquisitions could be impaired as a result of business conditions in the future, requiring us to record substantial impairments that would impact our operating income. We assess the recoverability of recorded goodwill amounts on an annual basis or when evidence of potential impairment exists. Intangible assets are evaluated when events or changes in circumstances arise that indicate the carrying value of the asset may be unrecoverable. The impairment testing is based on several factors which require judgement from management. In general, changes in our business condition or changes in fair market valuations and our operating performance may result in future impairments of goodwill or intangible assets which could have a material adverse impact on our operating results. Additionally, our goodwill and intangible assets may become impaired if we fail to obtain our anticipated operating efficiencies associated with our acquisitions. Changes in ~~Today' s fragmented geopolitical~~ geopolitics , and the regulatory landscape , ~~and cultural world~~ could adversely affect our ability to expand (and the demand for) our product and service offerings. Morningstar' s business plan involves, in part, expansion into new and adjacent product lines to anticipate and meet our customers' needs. Our ability to realize those opportunities in one of our businesses, however, may be hindered by regulatory requirements governing ~~a~~ different ~~business~~ businesses within the Morningstar group. In certain cases, regulatory sanctions against one of our businesses could affect our ability to continue to operate in unrelated regulated areas. In addition, the day- to- day sharing and optimization of the value of our intellectual property across our product lines can be affected by regulatory concerns. Similarly, differences in data privacy regimes and governmental surveillance rights applicable in specific countries significantly affect our workforce location strategy and technology infrastructure in relation to cross- border processing of personally identifiable information of customers, employees and other third parties. Such limitations, which seem likely to proliferate as global consensus regarding regulatory principles wanes, may impact our ability to execute on our strategy. The dynamics of today' s geopolitical discourse may also impact business opportunities across different markets. ~~It has been our experience that adoption of many ESG-~~ European markets have more rapidly adopted environmental, social and governance focused products ~~has been more rapid in European countries~~ than in other parts of the world, and there is more agreement on ~~ESG~~ these taxonomies, methodologies, and acceptable sources of data in that market. This has in part been driven by developing mandatory sustainable finance disclosure and anti-greenwashing regimes in the EU and UK. In the US, legislation, litigation, investigations or regulatory action or enforcement activities aimed at curbing these investing practices or penalizing institutions perceived as prioritizing these considerations could reduce the marketability of our products and adversely affect our ability to expand our product and service offerings. Stakeholder and ~~Customer~~ customer opinions about such products, or preferences regarding their methodology or approach, are at times impacted by regional or national political trends which may differ significantly. Preferred terminology and information sources may similarly differ from place to place. In such an environment, Morningstar may struggle to maintain its reputation for methodological transparency and consistency which underpins the value and reputation of our research. The already fragmented global landscape of sustainable finance and ESG regulation is facing further disruption. The EU' s plan to review and potentially revise its core sustainable finance and ESG frameworks adds another layer of complexity. These potential regulatory shifts could, depending on the final form they take, lead to a decrease in demand for certain of our products, including those offered by Morningstar Sustainalytics, which could have a material adverse effect on our operating results and financial condition. Increasingly, different stakeholder groups have divergent views on ESG matters, which increases the risk that any action or lack thereof will be perceived negatively by at least some stakeholders and adversely impact our reputation. As we continue to evaluate our own policies based on emerging regulations, the perceived failure to take actions at the company level that are, or seem, inconsistent with our own sustainability and corporate risk data, could adversely impact our brand and reputation. As a global taxpayer, we face challenges due to increasing complexities in accounting for taxes (e. g., base erosion, minimum taxes, and tax transparency), which are high priorities in jurisdictions in which we operate and could materially affect our tax obligations and effective tax rate. Our effective tax rate is based on the mix of income and losses in our US ~~U. S.~~ and non- US ~~U. S.~~ operations, statutory tax rates, and tax- planning opportunities available in the various jurisdictions in which we operate. We could be subject to changes in our tax rates, the adoption of new US ~~U. S.~~ or non- US ~~U. S.~~ tax legislation or exposure to additional tax liabilities. Due to economic and political conditions, tax rates in various jurisdictions may be subject to significant change. Our future effective tax rates could be affected by changes in the mix of earnings in countries with differing statutory tax rates including, impacts related to transfer pricing, changes in the valuation of deferred tax assets and liabilities, or changes in tax laws or their interpretation by relevant authorities. Significant judgment is required to evaluate our tax positions. Corporate tax reform, base- erosion efforts, and tax transparency continue to be high priorities in many jurisdictions in which we operate. In October 2021, the Organization for Economic Co- operation and Development (OECD) agreed to a two- pillar approach to global taxation focusing on global profit allocation (Pillar One) and a global minimum tax rate (Pillar Two). In December 2022, the EU member states agreed to implement the OECD' s global corporate minimum tax rate of 15 % under Pillar Two to be effective in January 2024. Other countries are also considering changes to their tax laws to adopt certain parts of the OECD' s proposals. This legislation represents a significant change in the international tax regime and could result in increases to our effective tax rate as a result of the imposition of minimum taxes. ~~We are~~ While the Pillar Two minimum tax requirement is not anticipated to have a material impact on our current effective tax rate, we ~~continuing~~ continue to monitor developments and administrative guidance in addition to evaluating the potential impact on our consolidated financial statements for future periods. Our revenues, expenses, assets , and liabilities are subject to fluctuations in foreign currency exchange ~~rate~~ rates . As a business with international business activities, we are subject to risks related to fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates. Movements in the exchange rates can impact the US ~~U. S.~~ dollar reported value of our revenues, expenses, assets , and liabilities denominated in non- US ~~U. S.~~ dollar currencies or where the currency of such items is different than the functional currency of the entity where these items were recorded. In addition, the value of assets in indexed investment products can fluctuate significantly over short periods of time and such volatility may be further impacted by fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates. We incur expenses for employee compensation and other operating expenses at our non- US ~~U. S.~~ locations in the local currency. In the future , if there is an increase or decrease in our international business activities that recorded in local currencies, our exposure to fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates may correspondingly increase or decrease, which could materially adversely affect our business, financial condition , or operating results. Although we may in the future decide to undertake foreign exchange hedging transactions, to date, we have not engaged in currency hedging, and we do not currently have any positions in derivative instruments to hedge our currency risk. Our indebtedness ~~,~~ could adversely affect our cash ~~flows~~ flow and financial flexibility. Our variable rate indebtedness could subject us to interest rate risk, which could cause our debt service obligations to increase significantly. For an overview of our current outstanding indebtedness, refer to Item 7 — Management' s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations — Liquidity and Capital Resources below. Our long- term debt was $ ~~940~~ 698 ~~3~~ 6 million at December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 . While our business has historically generated strong cash flow and we are in compliance with all of our debt covenants, borrowings under our current credit facility are floating rate. As a result, our annual debt service requirements are affected by rising interest rates and we cannot provide assurance that we will generate and maintain cash flows sufficient to permit us to service our indebtedness. Our ability to make payments on our indebtedness and to fund planned capital expenditures depends on our ability to generate and access cash in the future, which, in turn, is subject to general economic, financial, competitive, regulatory, tax and other factors, many of which are beyond our control. If we cannot refinance or otherwise pay our obligations as they mature and fund our liquidity needs, our business, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows, liquidity, ability to obtain financing and ability to compete in our industry could be materially adversely affected. In addition, any borrowings under our current credit facility bear interest at fluctuating interest rates based on the Secured Overnight Financing Rate (SOFR) which replaced ~~USD~~ London Interbank Offered Rate ( LIBOR ) as the reference rate under our credit facility ~~. SOFR is intended to be a broad measure of the cost of borrowing cash overnight collateralized by U. S. Treasury securities and is not the economic equivalent of USD LIBOR~~ . While SOFR is a secured rate, ~~USD~~ LIBOR ~~is~~ was an unsecured rate , thus ~~. As a result~~ , there can be no assurance that SOFR will perform in the same way as ~~USD~~ LIBOR would have at any time, which may result in increased volatility in the interest rates payable under our credit facility and potentially increase our funding costs. Furthermore, the terms of our debt agreements include restrictive covenants that limit, among other things, our and our subsidiaries' financial flexibility and ability to implement certain transactions. If we are unable to comply with the restrictions and covenants in our debt agreements, there could be a default that, in some cases, if continuing, could result in the accelerated payment of our debt obligations or the termination of borrowing commitments on the part of the lenders under our Credit Agreement. Additionally, our current credit facility matures in September 2027. We may not be able to renegotiate or obtain additional or new financing on a timely basis or on terms favorable or acceptable to us. If we are unable to refinance or otherwise fund our liquidity needs, our business, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows, liquidity, and ability to compete in our industry could be materially adversely affected. Refer to Item 7 — Management' s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations — Liquidity and Capital Resources for a description of the restrictive covenants in our debt agreements. Our insurance coverage may be inadequate or expensive. We maintain voluntary and required insurance coverage, including, among others, general liability, property, director and officer, errors and omissions, network cybersecurity and privacy, employee practices liability, fidelity bond and fiduciary liability insurance and insurance required under ERISA at a significant annual cost, which is generally expected to increase over time. Further, while we endeavor to maintain coverage that we feel is appropriate to operations, size and general assessment of our risk, we are ~~dependent~~ unable to predict with certainty the frequency, nature or magnitude of claims under these policies and our claims recovery experience. Our business may be negatively affected if insurance coverage proves to be inadequate or unavailable on acceptable terms ~~third- party service providers in our operations. We utilize numerous third- party service providers in our operations, including for the provision of contract labor in several locations and backup facilities for our data. A failure by a third- party service provider could expose us to an inability to provide contractual services to our clients in a timely manner. Additionally, if a third- party service provider is unable to provide these services, we may incur significant costs to either internalize some of these services~~ or at all ~~find a suitable alternative. A failure in the performance of our due diligence processes and controls related to the supervision and oversight of these firms in detecting and addressing conflicts of interest, fraudulent activity, data breaches and cyber- attacks or noncompliance with relevant securities and other laws could cause us to suffer financial loss, regulatory sanctions or damage to our reputation~~ . Risks Related to Ownership of Our Common Stock The concentrated ownership position of Joe Mansueto could adversely affect our other shareholders. As of December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 , Joe Mansueto, our Executive Chairman and Chairman of the Board, owned approximately ~~37~~ 35 ~~4~~ 8 % of our outstanding common stock. While Joe has reduced his percentage ownership of the company in recent years as part of a personal plan to diversify his assets, his concentrated ownership position gives him substantial influence over substantially all matters submitted to our shareholders for approval, including the election and removal of directors and any merger, consolidation, or sale of our assets. This concentration of ownership may disincentivize other shareholders from proposing the election of other persons to our board of directors, delay or prevent a change in control, impede a merger, consolidation, takeover, or other business combination involving Morningstar, discourage a potential acquirer from making a tender offer or otherwise attempting to obtain control of the company, or result in actions that may be opposed by other shareholders. Future sales of our common stock and ~~Fluctuations~~ fluctuations in our operating results may negatively affect our stock price. We believe our business has relatively ~~large~~ high fixed costs, principally for ~~in relation to~~ compensation and benefits , and low variable costs, which has historically ~~magnified~~ heightened the impact of revenue fluctuations on our operating results. As a result, a decline in our revenue may lead to a proportionally larger decline in operating income. Additionally ~~In addition~~ , ~~because we manage~~ as a result of managing our business with a long- term perspective, we generally don' t make significant adjustments to our strategy or cost structure in response to short- term factors. For example, if the US ~~U. S.~~ economy were to experience current inflationary pressures over a prolonged period, increased compensation and other expenses could adversely impact our operating results. ~~Uncertainty regarding inflation could also impact our ability to forecast costs, which inform our longer- term budget and capital allocation decisions.~~ In addition, as we do not provide earnings guidance and our executive team generally doesn' t take one- on- one meetings with investors and research analysts , ~~. Because of this policy~~ and given limited analyst coverage of our stock, our stock price ~~has not and~~ may not ~~always~~ , now or in the future, reflect the intrinsic value of our business and assets. If our operating results or other operating metrics fail to meet the expectations of outside research analysts and investors, the market price and trading volume of our common stock may decline . Additionally, our stock price may be susceptible to decline if our significant shareholders, including Joe Mansueto, were to sell substantial amounts of our common stock. A significant reduction in ownership by Joe or any other large shareholder over a short period of time could cause the market price of our common stock to fall . We cannot guarantee we will pay dividends in the future or make any repurchases of our common stock under our repurchase program. We have historically paid cash dividends on our common stock, but there is no guarantee that such dividends will continue in the future. Whether our Board authorizes future dividends will depend on a number of factors, including, our results of operations, financial condition, contractual restrictions, restrictions imposed by applicable law, and other factors. Moreover, our Board may determine not to repurchase shares of our common stock pursuant to the ~~an authorized~~ share repurchase program ~~. On~~ we authorized on December 6, 2022 ~~, our board~~ . Refer to Note 18 of ~~directors approved a~~ our Notes to our Consolidated Financial Statements for more information regarding our share repurchase program ~~that authorizes the company to repurchase up to $ 500 million of our outstanding common stock. Under this, we may, but are not obligated to, make share repurchases through a variety of methods, including open market or private transactions in amounts that we deem appropriate, in accordance with applicable federal securities laws. The timing and amount of repurchases, if any, will be subject to liquidity, stock price, market and economic conditions, compliance with applicable legal requirements and other relevant factors, including any future indebtedness and loan facilities that could prohibit or restrict our ability to pay dividends, make distributions to our shareholders, or repurchase our shares. Our stock repurchase program may be accelerated, suspended, delayed or discontinued at any time~~ . Any failure to repurchase stock after we have announced our intention to do so may adversely impact our reputation and investor confidence in us and may adversely impact our stock price. The existence of ~~these~~ our share repurchase ~~programs~~ program could cause our stock price to be higher than it otherwise would and could potentially reduce the market liquidity for our stock. Repurchase programs are also subject to potential excise tax as under the Inflation Reduction Act of 2022 ~~. The future sale of shares of our common stock may negatively affect our stock price. If our significant shareholders sell substantial amounts of our common stock, the market price of our common stock could fall. A significant reduction in ownership by Joe Mansueto or any other large shareholder over a short period of time could cause the market price of our common stock to fall. In addition, the average daily trading volume in our stock is relatively low. Low trading volume in our stock may lead to greater fluctuations in our stock price, and may also make it difficult for shareholders to effect transactions in a timely fashion~~ . Item 1B. Unresolved Staff Comments We do not have any unresolved comments from the Staff of the SEC regarding our periodic or current reports under the Exchange Act. Item 1C. Cybersecurity The purpose of our information security program is to enable the business to effectively identify, assess, prioritize and manage cybersecurity risk in order to support our long- term corporate objectives and to protect our employees, customers, and company assets from threats to our information systems. Cybersecurity is a critical component of our enterprise risk management and the company has identified cybersecurity as one of the key risk categories it faces. Risk Management and Strategy Morningstar takes a risk- based approach for managing its cybersecurity program. The ~~Currently, the~~ program is evaluated periodically, including against the NIST Cybersecurity Framework , most recently in 2024 . The outcome of these reviews, as well as any changes implemented as a result of these reviews, are reported to the audit committee of ~~the~~ our board of directors (the ~~"~~ Audit Committee ~~"~~). Morningstar deploys various safeguards to help protect against cybersecurity threats, including but not limited to, anti- malware (EDR) tools, email security, web filtering, multi- factor authentication and single- sign- on, regular patch cadence and vulnerability management, and hardened laptops with full disk encryption and admin permissions removed. For in- house developed software, Morningstar deploys various security tools to detect vulnerabilities, including but not limited to, static application security and dynamic application security testing, ~~SAC~~ software composition analysis tooling, cloud security posture management and central logging. We engage a third- party to conduct a NIST CSF assessment to measure the completeness and readiness of our cybersecurity program and have a third- party perform a security assessment of our network annually. Additionally, we have application security assessments and SOC 2 certifications performed by a third- party on products where we deem them beneficial. The company' s team of information security professionals ( InfoSec Team ), conducts vulnerability scans and third- party security assessments of operating systems, network devices, and web- facing applications. We ~~In order to ensure the resilience of Morningstar products, we~~ require all Morningstar products to follow enterprise- wide Disaster Recovery (DR) standards. Identified vulnerabilities and DR tasks are assigned to appropriate owners and on a weekly basis we produce a cybersecurity scorecard for each Morningstar product. These scorecards are disseminated to the relevant leadership team. The InfoSec Team, under the supervision of the chief information security officer (CISO), has also implemented processes to evaluate cybersecurity controls of third- party service providers. As part of the ~~Company~~ company ' s processes for engaging vendors, subcontractors and other third- parties, the InfoSec Team evaluates any such entities that may process confidential information prior to conducting business with them. We also evaluate the security status of our critical third parties periodically to determine whether they continue to meet our security standards. Employees undergo annual security awareness training, and a quarterly phishing exercise is conducted. Quarterly security incident tabletop exercises are conducted with appropriate stakeholders to practice response procedures, and an annual tabletop exercise is conducted with the executive leadership team to test our enterprise resilience. The enterprise resilience team manages both disaster recovery as well as business continuity plans in preparation to recover from high- impact incidents . Governance We have a team of..... unit and / or their respective delegates . We believe that currently we have not encountered a cybersecurity event that has had a material impact on our business, financial condition, or results of our operation. We continue to invest in our IT security infrastructure ~~and framework~~ , InfoSec Program and to enhance our internal controls and processes to help protect our ~~data~~ business from cybersecurity threats. For a discussion of the risks cybersecurity threats pose to our business strategy, results of operations and financial condition, please see " Item 1A. We have a keen focus on innovation across data, research, product, and delivery so that we can effectively cater to the evolving needs and expectations of investors globally. Segments The ~~Effective as of December 31, 2023, the~~ company ~~concluded that it~~ has seven operating segments which are presented as the following five reportable segments: Morningstar Data and Analytics, PitchBook, Morningstar Wealth, Morningstar Credit, and Morningstar Retirement. The operating segments of Morningstar Sustainalytics and Morningstar Indexes do not individually meet the quantitative segment reporting thresholds and have been combined and presented as part of Corporate and All Other, which is not a reportable segment. Prior - period segment information is presented on a comparable basis to the basis on which current period segment information is presented and reviewed by the chief operating decision maker (CODM). For additional information about our segment reporting, refer to Note 6 of the Notes to our Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II of this Report. Revenue We offer an extensive line of investment- related products and services for individual and institutional investors ~~,~~ in public and private capital markets; financial advisors ~~,~~ and wealth managers; alliances and redistributors; asset managers ~~,~~ ; retirement plan providers , advisors and sponsors ~~,~~ ; and issuers of fixed- income securities ~~institutional investors and other participants in the private capital markets~~ . Our segments sell many of our research and data products and services through license agreements on either a per user or enterprise- basis. Morningstar Data and Analytics and PitchBook generate most of our ~~licensed~~ license - based revenue. Our license agreements typically range from one to three years and are accounted for as subscription services available to customers and not as ~~a license~~ licenses under the accounting guidance. Our Morningstar Wealth and Morningstar Retirement segments generate most of our asset- based revenue where basis points and other fees are charged for assets under management or advisement (AUMA). Our asset- based arrangements typically range from one to three years. Our transaction- based revenue ~~, which~~ includes revenue that is ~~recognized primarily~~ one time in ~~our~~ nature and related Morningstar Credit ~~and Morningstar Wealth segments, is one- time in nature, compared with the~~ recurring revenue primarily derived from surveillance ~~streams represented by our license~~ and research ~~asset- based products~~ . Deferred Revenue We invoice some of our clients and collect cash in advance of providing services or fulfilling subscription services to our customers. Deferred revenue totaled $ ~~544~~ 563 . ~~0~~ 2 million ~~(~~ , of which $ ~~517~~ 540 . ~~7~~ 8 million was classified as a current liability with an additional $ ~~26~~ 22 . ~~3~~ 4 million included in long- term liabilities ~~),~~ at the end of ~~2023~~ 2024 . We expect to recognize this deferred revenue in future periods as we fulfill the service obligations under our license and subscription agreements. Operating Expense We classify our operating expense into separate categories for cost of revenue, sales and marketing, general and administrative, and depreciation and amortization, as described below. • Cost of revenue. This category includes compensation expense for employees who produce the products and services we deliver to our customers. For example, this category covers production teams and analysts who write investment research reports. It also includes compensation expense for programmers, designers, and other employees who develop new products and enhance existing products. In some cases, we capitalize the compensation costs associated with certain software development projects resulting in reduced expense that we would otherwise report in this category. Cost of revenue also includes other expenses, such as third- party data purchases and data lines as well as professional fees for third- party development activities. • Sales and marketing. This category includes compensation expense for our sales teams, product managers, and marketing professionals. We also include the cost of advertising, digital marketing campaigns, and other marketing and promotion efforts in this category. • General and administrative. This category includes compensation expense for our management team and other corporate functions, including employees in our compliance, finance, human resources, and legal departments. It also includes costs for corporate systems and facilities. • Depreciation and amortization. Our capital expenditures mainly relate to capitalized software development costs, information technology equipment, and leasehold improvements. We amortize capitalized software development costs over their estimated economic life, generally three years. We depreciate property and equipment using the straight- line method based on the useful lives of the assets, which range from three to seven years. We amortize leasehold improvements over the lease term or their useful lives, whichever is shorter. We also include amortization related to identifiable intangible assets, which is mainly driven by acquisitions, in this category. We amortize intangible assets using the straight- line method over their estimated economic useful lives, which range from one to twenty years. International Operations As of December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 , we had wholly- ~~or majority-~~ owned subsidiaries in 31 countries outside of the US ~~U. S.~~ and included their results of operations and financial condition in our consolidated financial statements. We also have investments outside of the US ~~U. S.~~ , and where we have significant influence, we apply the equity method of accounting. How We Evaluate Our Business When our analysts evaluate a stock, they focus on assessing the company' s estimated intrinsic value, which is based on estimated future cash flows, discounted to their value in today' s dollars. Our approach to evaluating our own business works the same way. Our goal is to increase the intrinsic value of our business over time, which we believe is the best way to create value for our shareholders. We do not make public financial forecasts for our business because we want to avoid creating any incentives for our management team to make speculative statements about our financial results that could influence our stock price or take actions that help us meet short- term forecasts, but may not build long- term shareholder value. We provide the following measures that can help investors generate their own assessment of how our intrinsic value has changed over time: • Revenue (including organic revenue); • Operating income (including adjusted operating income); • Operating margin (including adjusted operating margin); and • Free cash flow. Organic revenue, adjusted operating income, adjusted operating margin, and free cash flow are not measures of performance set forth under US ~~U. S.~~ generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP). We define organic revenue as consolidated revenue excluding acquisitions, divestitures, adoption of new accounting standard changes (accounting changes), and foreign currency translations. We present organic revenue because we believe it helps investors better compare our period- to- period results, and our management team uses this measure to evaluate the performance of our business and product areas . We exclude revenue from businesses acquired or divested from organic revenue for a period of 12 months after we complete the acquisition or divestiture. Organic revenue is not equivalent to any measure required under GAAP and may not be comparable to similarly titled measures reported by other companies. We define adjusted operating income as operating income excluding all mergers and acquisitions (M & A)- related expenses and gains (related to merger, acquisition, and divestiture activity including ~~M & A- related~~ earn- outs) ~~and~~ , intangible amortization, and ~~as well as all~~ expenses related to the significant reduction and shift of the company' s operations in China. We define adjusted operating margin as operating margin excluding all M & A- related expenses ~~(including M & A- related earn- outs)~~ and gains, intangible amortization, and ~~as well as all~~ expenses related to the significant reduction and shift of the company' s operations in China. We present these measures because we believe they better reflect period- over- period comparisons and improves overall understanding of the underlying performance of the business absent the impact of M & A and the shift of the company' s operations in China. We define free cash flow as cash provided by or used for operating activities less capital expenditures. Free cash flow is presented solely as a supplemental disclosure to help investors better understand how much cash is available after making capital expenditures. Our management team uses free cash flow to evaluate the health of our business. Free cash flow is not equivalent to any measure required under GAAP and should not be considered an indicator of liquidity. Moreover, the free cash flow definition we use may not be comparable to similarly titled measures reported by other companies. In addition to the measures described above, we calculate revenue renewal rates to evaluate how successful we' ve been in maintaining existing business for products and services that have revenue associated with periodic renewals. We use the annual contract value method, which tracks the dollar value of renewals compared with the total dollar value of contracts up for renewal during the period. We include changes in the contract value in the renewal amount. We ~~also include variable- fee contracts in this calculation and~~ use the actual revenue for the previous comparable fiscal period as the base rate for calculating the renewal percentage. The renewal rate excludes setup and customization fees and contract renewals that were pending as of January 31, ~~2024~~ 2025 . Regulatory Trends Affecting Our Business In addition to the industry developments described under Part I, Item 1. Business-" Our Strategy , " there are several longer- term regulatory trends we consider relevant to our business, as summarized below and as described in more detail in Part I, Item 1. Business- " Government Regulation " and in Part I, Item 1A- " Risk Factors " of this Report. ~~Even in its fragmented state, regulators globally continue to focus on certain recurring themes, including access to financial services, the quality of advice and the value of the services provided, the protection of customer data and transparency around the uses of such data, the minimization of conflicts of interest, and improvements in corporate governance and risk management. With respect to our credit ratings business, the European Securities Market Authority or the U. K. Financial Conduct Authority may begin to make inconsistent modifications to the laws and regulations of the credit rating agency regulatory regimes, which would increase the cost and complexity of regulatory compliance for our credit ratings business. In the U. K. and Continental Europe, with respect to our Investment Management business, Morningstar continues to navigate the equivalence regimes and domestic laws governing matters of access in financial services post- Brexit. In other parts of the world, recent regulations and other guidance in jurisdictions, like Australia and New Zealand, have focused on investment management compliance practices, such as design and distribution obligations, conflicts of interest and fee disclosures.~~ The increased complexity and extent of ~~regulatory~~ regulation ~~change~~ globally is a challenge for both Morningstar and its clients, and we continue to invest ~~expend resources to remain~~ in our compliance organization, processes and controls . Additionally, current regulatory uncertainty in the US — including changes and the pace of changes enacted by the current presidential administration and related leadership changes at US government agencies such as the US Securities and Exchange Commission, as well as recent and potential future US Supreme Court rulings — may impact our business. EU and UK Regulatory Divergence For our regulated businesses in the UK and EU, following the UK' s Financial Services and Markets Act 2023, there is a growing risk of divergence as between the specifics of the EU and UK regulatory regimes, as the UK continues to adapt its post- Brexit financial services regulatory framework and to tailor its rules to suit the UK market, while seeking to strengthen its position in wholesale markets more generally. With respect to our credit ratings and indexes business, divergence risks further increase the costs and complexity of regulatory compliance. In relation to investment management, any divergence risk remains to be seen pending the next iteration of the UK Financial Conduct Authority' s three- year strategy. Increased ESG Regulation and Anti- ESG Scrutiny Interest from investors, regulators and other relevant stakeholders in firms adopting ESG- related business and operational risk strategies persists. Morningstar is impacted by these trends on ~~the~~ a corporate level, as a US ~~United States (U. S.)~~ public company with international operations, and on a business level ~~, as a provider of ESG data, ratings and other services to help investors and companies identify, understand, and manage ESG- driven risks and opportunities and inform their decisions~~ . ~~These~~ Specifically, we anticipate that this area will experience further regulatory developments likely ~~are expected~~ to have long term impacts on our delivery of products and services, customer interactions, physical operations, technology systems, and dependencies on third parties. Morningstar is monitoring proposed ESG legislation in the US ~~U. S.~~, ~~European Union (~~EU ~~)~~, and in other jurisdictions relevant to its ~~ESG~~ business activities . The future of any US regulation of sustainability matters is uncertain and may not align with current or future regulations in other jurisdictions, including the EU . These and other potential regulations may impact not only the scope of our disclosure obligations and the ~~ESG- related~~ products and services we provide to customers ~~,~~ but also present an opportunity to guide and inform investors who are looking to understand the regulations and develop their own workflows to ensure their compliance with new requirements. The politicization of ESG- related business activities and investments has increased in recent years, particularly in the US ~~U. S~~. This politicization may result in ~~has led to the rise of anti- ESG proponents and actions, including individual and multi- state inquiries into companies' ESG activities, the submission of anti- ESG shareholder proposals to U. S.- based public companies, and the filing of shareholder derivative lawsuits against U. S. companies. As~~ Morningstar ~~provides data~~ facing heightened scrutiny in this regard, and ~~analysis with respect to ESG~~ may result in the company incurring increased costs in addressing related ~~investments, Morningstar, along with other financial service providers, faces scrutiny in this political environment and expends resources in responding to~~ inquiries. Morningstar continues to closely monitor the ESG and anti- ESG landscape. Cybersecurity, Data Privacy and Artificial Intelligence Data privacy regulation continues to proliferate, as numerous national and state jurisdictions have adopted or are considering new data privacy regulations. As a related matter, issues of cybersecurity as they relate to the identification and mitigation of cyber threats also continue to grow in prominence and laws governing data breaches continue to proliferate globally. Financial regulators have also increased their scrutiny ~~on of~~ the data protection practices of the entities, such as Morningstar, that they oversee. ~~In~~ The introduction of the EU' s Digital Operational Resilience Act corresponds with a growing concern among financial services regulators as to the increasing influence of information technology service providers, and the risks to financial stability posed by dependency on ~~the~~ those ~~U~~ firms . ~~S~~ Ensuring resiliency necessarily captures group (rather than individual entity) arrangements and is therefore both costly and complex . ~~,~~ Morningstar is monitoring related developments in ~~the~~ other countries that may follow the EU' s lead ~~SEC recently adopted disclosure requirements regarding cybersecurity hygiene and preparedness and cyber incident reporting~~ . Regulators in various global jurisdictions have adopted or are considering regulations governing AI technologies, ~~including~~ such as the EU ~~'s~~ AI Act. Additionally, regulators have sought to clarify that existing regulations apply to novel use cases involving AI technologies. Combined, this regulatory activity creates a complex and potentially costly compliance environment as Morningstar deploys AI technologies in its products and in tools used in the workplace. Other Regulatory Trends Finally, our company is impacted by government regulation and policies focused on macroeconomic trends such as inflation , trade, and unemployment. Central banks' increases in interest rates to combat inflationary pressures increases our interest expense on our variable rate indebtedness, while the volatile rate environment ~~reduces~~ can impact credit issuance volumes, impacting ~~putting negative pressure on~~ our credit rating business , as well as M & A activity more broadly . Our compensation expense reflects rising wage scales in many of the markets where we operate as unemployment rates remain low. Overall, our business, balance sheet, technological infrastructure, and teams have shown resilience and flexibility navigating global macroeconomic trends. Organic revenue ~~(revenue excluding acquisitions, divestitures, adoption of new accounting standard changes (accounting changes), and the effect of foreign currency translations)~~ is considered a non- GAAP financial measure ~~. The definition of organic revenue we use may not be the same as similarly titled measures used by other companies. Organic revenue should not be considered an alternative to any measure of performance as required under GAAP. We present organic revenue because we believe it helps investors better compare our period- to- period results, and our management team uses this measure to evaluate the performance of our business and product areas~~ . We exclude revenue from acquired businesses from our organic revenue growth calculation for a period of 12 months after we complete the acquisition. For divestitures, we exclude revenue in the prior period for which there is no comparable revenue in the current period. We will exclude revenue related to our Commodity and Energy Data business, which we divested in the third quarter of 2024, as well as revenue and interim service fees associated with the sale of customer assets from the US Morningstar Wealth Turnkey Asset Management Platform (TAMP) to AssetMark (sale of US TAMP assets), which we divested in the fourth quarter of 2024, from our organic revenue growth calculation for a period of 12 months after we complete the divestitures. Excluding revenue from acquisitions, divestitures, accounting changes, and the impact of foreign currency translations, organic revenue increased ~~7~~ 11 . ~~5~~ 8 % in ~~2023~~ 2024 . Morningstar Credit, PitchBook , and Morningstar Data and Analytics were the largest drivers of the increase in organic revenue during ~~2023~~ 2024 . Revenue Renewal Rates As discussed in How We Evaluate Our Business, we calculate revenue renewal rates to help measure how successful we' ve been in maintaining existing business for products and services that have renewable revenue. The figures for license- based products includes the effect of price changes; increasing client bases upon contract renewal; any loss of clients due to cancellations; and changes to the contract value upon renewal (such as increased users) ~~; and changes in the value of variable- fee contracts~~ . These factors, therefore, can result in renewal rate percentages greater or lower than 100 %. Our revenue renewal rate calculation includes only those products that we consider to be license- based. These are primarily weighted toward Morningstar Data and Analytics and PitchBook products, but also includes other license- based products and services. For these license- based products and services, we estimate that our annual renewal rate was approximately 100 % in 2024 versus 103 % in 2023 ~~versus 105 % in 2022~~ . During 2023, PitchBook substantially completed the integration of LCD core data offering and news onto the PitchBook Platform. At the same time, PitchBook introduced new capabilities to inform investor strategies, including the VC Exit Predictor, a proprietary tool and scoring methodology to predict exit outcomes for VC- backed companies, and the Manager Scoring tool, a new methodology that helps limited partners discover and evaluate top- performing private fund managers. Expense growth was primarily driven by higher compensation costs partially offset by a decrease in stock- based compensation expense in 2023 compared to 2022 when higher stock- based compensation costs reflected the overachievement of targets under the PitchBook management bonus plan. Morningstar Credit total revenue decreased $ 21. 5 million, or 9. 1 %, in 2023. Revenue declined 8. 5 % on an organic basis, primarily due to sharp declines in CMBS ratings revenue driven by ongoing softness in U. S. CMBS ratings activity, and, to a lesser extent, declines in residential mortgage- backed securities (RMBS) related revenue. These declines were partially offset by an increase in asset- backed securities ratings revenues and modest gains in corporate ratings revenues. Revenue related to data products increased. Morningstar Credit adjusted operating income decreased $ 37. 4 million, or 63. 3 %, and adjusted operating margin decreased 14. 8 percentage points in 2023, due to the decline in revenue described above and higher expenses. Expenses included $ 8. 0 million related to the DBRS SEC settlements and $ 1. 7 million in severance related to targeted reorganizations, which collectively had a negative 4. 5 percentage point impact on adjusted operating margin in 2023. Consolidated Free Cash Flow As described in more detail above, we define free cash flow is a non- GAAP financial measure defined as cash provided by or used for operating activities less capital expenditures. We present free cash flow solely as a supplemental disclosure to help investors better understand how much cash is available after making capital expenditures. Our management team uses free cash flow to evaluate the health of our business. Free cash flow is not a measure of performance. Application of Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates Our discussion and analysis of our financial condition and results of operations are based on our Consolidated Financial Statements, which have been prepared in accordance with GAAP. We discuss our significant accounting policies in Note 2 of the Notes to our Consolidated Financial Statements. The preparation of financial statements in accordance with GAAP requires our management team to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenue, expense, and related disclosures included in our Consolidated Financial Statements. We continually evaluate our estimates. We base our estimates on historical experience and various other assumptions that we believe are reasonable. Based on these assumptions and estimates, we make judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. Our actual results could vary from these estimates and assumptions. If actual amounts are different from previous estimates, we include revisions in our results of operations for the period in which the actual amounts become known. We believe the following critical accounting policies reflect the significant judgments and estimates used in the preparation of our Consolidated Financial Statements: Revenue Recognition ~~Most~~ A majority of our revenue comes from the sale of subscriptions for data, software, and Internet- based products and services. We recognize this revenue in equal amounts over the noncancellable term of the subscription or license, which generally ranges from one to three years. Our license- based revenue represents subscription services available to customers and not a license under the accounting guidance. We also provide research, investment management, retirement advice, and other services. We recognize this revenue when the service is provided or during the service obligation period defined in the contract. We make judgments related to revenue recognition, including allocating the transaction price in a contract. For contracts that combine multiple products and services or other performance obligations, we make judgments regarding the value of each obligation in the arrangement based on selling prices of the items as if sold separately. We recognize revenue as we satisfy our performance obligations under the terms of the contracts with our customers ~~. If arrangements include an acceptance provision, which exists infrequently, we begin recognizing revenue upon the receipt of customer acceptance~~ . We make judgments at the beginning of an arrangement regarding whether collection of the consideration to which we are entitled is probable and assess the likelihood of collection on a customer- by- customer basis. We typically sell to institutional customers with whom we have a history of successful collections. Deferred revenue is the amount billed or collected in advance for subscriptions or services that has not yet been recognized as revenue. Deferred revenue totaled $ ~~544~~ 563 . ~~0~~ 2 million at the end of ~~2023~~ 2024 (of which $ ~~517~~ 540 . ~~7~~ 8 million was classified as a current liability with an additional $ ~~26~~ 22 . ~~3~~ 4 million, mainly credit rating surveillance, included in long- term liabilities). We expect to recognize this deferred revenue in future periods as we fulfill our performance obligations under our subscription and service agreements. The amount of deferred revenue may increase or decrease based on the mix of contracted products and services and the volume of new and renewal subscriptions. The timing of future revenue recognition may change depending on the terms of the applicable agreements and the timing of fulfilling our service obligations. Acquisitions, Goodwill, and Other Intangible Assets We generally acquire businesses which are accounted for as business combinations. Our financial statements reflect the operations of an acquired business starting from the completion of the transaction. We record the estimated fair value of assets acquired and liabilities assumed as of the date of acquisition. To account for each business combination, we utilize the acquisition method of accounting which requires the following steps (1) identifying the acquirer, (2) determining the acquisition date, (3) recognizing and measuring identifiable assets acquired and liabilities assumed, and (4) recognizing and measuring goodwill or a gain from a bargain purchase. Regardless of whether an acquisition is considered to be a business combination or an asset acquisition, allocating the purchase price to the acquired assets and liabilities involves management judgment. We base the fair value estimates on available historical information and on future expectations and assumptions that we believe are reasonable, but these estimates are inherently uncertain. Determining the fair value of intangible assets requires significant management judgment in the following areas: • Identify the acquired intangible assets: For each acquisition, we identify the intangible assets acquired. These intangible assets generally consist of customer relationships, trademarks and trade names, technology- related intangibles (including internally developed software and databases), and in certain acquisitions, noncompete agreements. • Estimate the fair value of these intangible assets: We may consider various approaches to value the intangible assets. These include the cost approach, which measures the value of an asset based on the cost to reproduce it or replace it with another asset of like utility by applying the reproduction cost method or replacement cost method; the market approach, which values the asset through an analysis of sales and offerings of comparable assets which can be adjusted to reflect differences between the investment or asset being valued and the comparable investments or assets, such as historical financial condition and performance, expected economic benefits, time and terms of sale, utility, and physical characteristics, and the income approach, which measures the value of an asset based on the present value of the economic benefits it is expected to produce utilizing inputs such as estimated future cash flows based on forecasted revenue growth rates and margins, estimated attrition rates, and discount rate assumptions. • Estimate the remaining useful life of the assets: For each intangible asset, we use judgment and assumptions to establish the remaining useful life of the asset. For example, for customer relationships, we determine the estimated useful life with reference to observed customer attrition rates. For technology- related assets such as databases, we make judgments about the demand for current data and historical metrics in establishing the remaining useful life. For internally developed software, we estimate an obsolescence factor associated with the software. We record any excess of the purchase price over the estimated fair values of the net assets acquired as goodwill, which is not amortized. We recognize the fair value of any contingent payments at the date of acquisition as part of the consideration transferred to acquire a business. Contingent payments are recognized at fair value at the date of acquisition using either a Monte Carlo simulation, which requires the use of management assumptions and inputs, such as projected financial information related to revenue growth and expected margin percentage, among other valuation related items, or calculating the weighted average of the estimated contingent payment scenarios. The liability associated with contingent consideration is remeasured to fair value at each reporting period subsequent to the date of acquisition considering factors that may impact the timing and amount of contingent payments until the term of the agreement has expired or the contingency is resolved. Any changes in the fair value measurement will be recorded in our Consolidated Statements of Income. In evaluating the characterization of contingent and deferred payments, we analyze relevant factors, including the nature of the payment, continuing employment requirements, incremental payments to employees of the acquired business, and timing and rationale underlying the transaction, to determine whether the payments should be accounted for as additional purchase consideration or post- combination related services. We believe the accounting estimates related to purchase price allocations, subsequent goodwill impairment testing, and contingent payments are critical accounting estimates because changes in these assumptions could materially affect the amounts and classifications of assets and liabilities presented in our Consolidated Balance Sheets, as well as the amount of amortization and depreciation expense, if any, recorded in our Consolidated Statements of Income. The significance of this policy varies from period to period depending upon the volume of applicable acquisition transactions occurring. Recently Adopted and Issued Accounting Pronouncements Refer to Note ~~17~~ 19 of the Notes to our Consolidated Financial Statements for recently adopted and issued accounting pronouncements as of December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 . Item 7A. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures about Market Risk Our investment portfolio is actively managed and may suffer losses from fluctuating interest rates, market prices, or adverse security selection. These accounts may consist of stocks, bonds, options, mutual funds, money market funds, or exchange- traded products that replicate the model portfolios and strategies created by Morningstar. These investment accounts may also include exchange- traded products where Morningstar is an index provider. As of December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 , our cash, cash equivalents, and investments balance was $ ~~389~~ 551 . 0 million. Based on our estimates, a 100 basis- point change in interest rates would not have a material effect on the fair value of our investment portfolio. We are subject to risk from fluctuations in the interest rates related to a portion of our long- term debt. The interest rates are based upon the applicable Secured Overnight Financing Rate (SOFR) rate plus an applicable margin for such loans or the lender' s base rate plus an applicable margin for such loans. On an annualized basis, we estimate a 100 basis- point change in the SOFR rate would have a $ ~~6~~ 3 . ~~2~~ 5 million impact on our interest expense based on our outstanding principal balance and SOFR rates around December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 . We are subject to risk from fluctuations in foreign currencies from our operations outside of the US ~~U. S.~~ To date, we have not engaged in currency hedging, and we do not currently have any positions in derivative instruments to hedge our currency risk. Financial Statements and Supplementary Data Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm To the Shareholders and Board of Directors Morningstar, Inc.: Opinion on the Consolidated Financial Statements We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of Morningstar, Inc. and subsidiaries (the Company) as of December 31, 2024 and 2023 ~~and 2022~~ , the related consolidated statements of income, comprehensive income (loss), equity, and cash flows for each of the years in the three- year period ended December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 , and the related notes and financial statement schedule II (collectively, the consolidated financial statements). In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of December 31, 2024 and 2023 ~~and 2022~~, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for each of the years in the three- year period ended December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 , in conformity with U. S. generally accepted accounting principles. We have also ~~have~~ audited, in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) (PCAOB), the Company 's internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 , based on criteria established in Internal Control ~~—~~ - Integrated Framework (2013) issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission, and our report dated February ~~29~~ 28 , ~~2024~~ 2025 expressed an ~~adverse~~ unqualified opinion on the effectiveness of the Company 's internal control over financial reporting. Basis for Opinion These consolidated financial statements are the responsibility of the Company 's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits. We are a public accounting firm registered with the PCAOB and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with the U. S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB. We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud. Our audits included performing procedures to assess the risks of the material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to error or fraud, and performing procedures that respond to those risks. Such procedures included in examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. Our audits also included evaluating the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as ~~evaluating~~ the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion. Critical Audit Matter The critical audit matter communicated below is a matter arising from the current period audit of the consolidated financial statements that was communicated or required to be communicated to the audit committee and that: (1) relates to accounts or disclosures that are material to the consolidated financial statements and (2) involved our especially challenging, subjective, or complex ~~judgments~~ judgements . The communication of a critical audit matter does not alter in any way our opinion on the consolidated financial statements, taken as a whole, and we are not, by communicating the critical audit matter below, providing a separate opinion on the critical audit matter or on the accounts or disclosures to which it relates. Evaluation of sufficiency of audit evidence over revenue As discussed in Notes 2 and 5 to the consolidated financial statements, the Company has recorded $ 2, ~~038~~ 275 . ~~6~~ 1 million in revenues, for the year ended December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 , which contain multiple product revenue streams . The ~~company~~ Company 's process to account for and recognize revenue differs between certain revenue streams. We identified the evaluation of the sufficiency of the audit evidence over revenue as a critical audit matter. Evaluating the sufficiency of audit evidence obtained required especially subjective auditor ~~judgment~~ judgement due to the multiple product revenue streams and the use of multiple processes to account for and recognize revenue. This included determining the ~~revenue streams where procedures were performed and the~~ nature and extent of audit evidence obtained over ~~each~~ revenue ~~stream~~. The following are the primary procedures we performed to address this critical audit matter. We used auditor ~~judgment~~ judgement to determine the nature and extent of procedures to be performed, including the determination of the revenue streams over which those procedures were performed. For product revenue streams where procedures were performed, we: ~~•~~ - evaluated the design and tested the operating effectiveness of certain internal controls over the Company 's revenue recognition processes ~~•~~ - evaluated the ~~company~~ Company 's revenue recognition accounting policies ~~•~~ - selected certain revenue transactions and assessed recorded amounts by comparing them for consistency with underlying documentation, including the customer contract ~~•~~ - evaluated certain revenue transactions for consistency with the Company 's accounting policies, as applicable, including timing of revenue recognition In addition, we evaluated the sufficiency of audit evidence obtained by assessing the results of the procedures performed, including the appropriateness of the nature and ~~the~~ extent of audit effort over revenue. / s / KPMG LLP We have served as the Company' s auditor since 2011. Chicago, Illinois Opinion on Internal Control Over Financial Reporting We have audited Morningstar, Inc. and subsidiaries' (the Company) internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 , based on criteria established in Internal Control ~~—~~ - Integrated ~~Framework~~ framework (2013) issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission. In our opinion, ~~because of~~ the ~~effect of the~~ Company maintained, in all material ~~weakness~~ respects , ~~described below, on the achievement of the objectives of the control criteria, the Company has not maintained~~ effective internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 , based on criteria established in Internal Control ~~—~~ - Integrated Framework (2013) issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission. We also have audited, in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) (PCAOB), the consolidated balance sheets of the Company as of December 31, 2024 and 2023 ~~and 2022~~, the related consolidated statements of income, comprehensive income (loss), equity, and cash flows for each of the years in the three- year period ended December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 , and the related notes and financial statement schedule II (collectively, the consolidated financial statements), and our report dated February ~~29~~ 28 , ~~2024~~ 2025 expressed an unqualified opinion on those consolidated financial statements. ~~A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control over financial reporting, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the company' s annual or interim financial statements will not be prevented or detected on a timely basis. A material weakness related to ineffective process- level controls over the disclosures required in accordance with FASB ASC 280, Segment Reporting, resulting from ineffective risk assessment of factors that are relevant to assessing whether operating segments can be aggregated, has been identified and included in management' s assessment. The material weakness was considered in determining the nature, timing, and extent of audit tests applied in our audit of the 2023 consolidated financial statements, and this report does not affect our report on those consolidated financial statements.~~ The Company 's management is responsible for maintaining effective internal control over financial reporting and for its assessment of the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting, included in the accompanying Management' s Report on Internal Control Over Financial Reporting. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company 's internal control over financial reporting based on our audit. We are a public accounting firm registered with the PCAOB and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with the U. S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB. We conducted our audit in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether effective internal control over financial reporting was maintained in all material respects. Our audit of internal control over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal control over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. Our audit also included performing such other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion. Definition and Limitations of Internal Control Over Financial Reporting A company 's internal control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for the external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company 's internal control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the company 's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements. Because of its inherent limitations, internal control over financial reporting may not prevent or detect misstatements. Also, projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate. AND SUBSIDIARIES NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS 1. Description of Business Morningstar, Inc. and its subsidiaries (Morningstar, we, our, the company) provide independent investment insights for investors around the world. We offer an extensive line of products and services for individual and institutional investors in public and private capital markets, financial advisors, asset managers, retirement plan providers and sponsors, and issuers of securities. We conduct business operations through wholly - or majority - owned subsidiaries in 32 countries. 2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies The acronyms that appear in these Notes to our Consolidated Financial Statements refer to the following: ASCAccounting Standards CodificationASUAccounting Standards UpdateFASBFinancial Accounting Standards BoardSECSecurities and Exchange Commission Principles of Consolidation We conduct our business operations through wholly- or majority- owned operating subsidiaries. The accompanying consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Morningstar, Inc. and our subsidiaries. We consolidate assets, liabilities, and results of operations of subsidiaries in which we have a controlling interest and eliminate all significant intercompany accounts and transactions. We account for investments in entities in which we exercise significant influence, but do not control, using the equity method. As part of our investment management operations, we manage certain funds outside of the US U. S. that are considered variable interest entities. For most of these variable interest entities, we do not have a variable interest. In cases where we do have a variable interest, we are not the primary beneficiary. Accordingly, we do not consolidate any of these variable interest entities. Use of Estimates The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the US U. S. (GAAP) requires us to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues, and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results may differ from these estimates. Cash and Cash Equivalents Cash and cash equivalents consist of cash and investments with original maturities of three months or less. We state them at cost, which approximates fair value. We state the portion of our cash equivalents that are invested in money market funds at fair value, as these funds are actively traded and have quoted market prices. We account for our investments in debt securities in accordance with FASB ASC 320, Investments — Debt Securities (FASB ASC 320). We classify our debt securities into two categories: held- to- maturity and available- for- sale. • Held- to- maturity: We classify certain investments, primarily certificates of deposit, as held- to- maturity securities, based on our intent and ability to hold these securities to maturity. We record held- to- maturity investments at amortized cost in our Consolidated Balance Sheets. • Available- for- sale: Investments not considered held- to- maturity or trading securities are classified as available- for- sale securities. Available- for- sale securities primarily consist of marketable debt securities. We report unrealized gains and losses for available- for- sale securities as other comprehensive income (loss), net of related income taxes. We record these securities at their fair values in our Consolidated Balance Sheets. We account for our investments in equity securities in accordance with FASB ASC 321, Investments — Equity Securities (FASB ASC 321). We measure equity investments at fair value with the related realized and unrealized gains and losses recognized in our Consolidated Statements of Income. For equity investments without a readily determinable fair value, we measure these at cost less impairment and adjusting for observable price changes in orderly transactions. We will apply this measurement method to the investment until or if it becomes eligible to be measured at fair value, which is reassessed at each reporting period. Investments in equity securities that we do not intend to hold for more than a year are presented in" Investments" in our Consolidated Balance Sheets. Investments in equity securities that we intend to hold for more than one year are included in" Investments in unconsolidated entities" in our Consolidated Balance Sheets. We account for our equity method investments in accordance with FASB ASC 323, Investments — Equity Method and Joint Ventures (FASB ASC 323). We account for non-marketable equity investments over which we exercise significant influence, but do not have control over the investee, under the equity method. We record our estimated share of earnings or losses in the periods they are reported by the investee and record any dividends as a reduction to the carrying amount of the investment. We evaluate our equity method investments for other than- temporary declines in value. If the estimated fair value of the investment is less than the carrying amount and management considers the decline in value to be other than temporary, the excess of the carrying amount over the estimated fair value is recognized in net income in the period the impairment occurs. Our equity method investments are recorded within" Investments in unconsolidated entities" in our Consolidated Balance Sheets. Fair Value Measurements FASB ASC 820, Fair Value Measurements (FASB ASC 820) defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value, and expands disclosures about fair value measurements. Under FASB ASC 820, fair value is defined as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants as of the measurement date. The standard applies whenever other standards require (or permit) assets or liabilities to be measured at fair value. FASB ASC 820 uses a fair value hierarchy based on three broad levels of valuation inputs: • Level 1: Valuations based on quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that we have the ability to access. • Level 2: Valuations based on quoted prices in markets that are not active or for which all significant inputs are observable, either directly or indirectly. • Level 3: Valuations based on inputs that are unobservable and significant to the overall fair value measurement. We provide additional information about our cash equivalents and investments that are subject to FASB ASC 820 in Note 7. Business Combinations When we acquire a business, we account for the business combination in accordance with FASB ASC 805, Business Combinations (FASB ASC 805). We recognize and measure the fair value of the acquired business and allocate the purchase price to the identifiable tangible and intangible assets acquired and liabilities assumed based upon their estimated fair values at the date of acquisition. The difference between the purchase price and the estimated fair value of the net assets acquired or the excess of the aggregate estimated fair values of assets acquired and liabilities assumed is recorded as goodwill. In determining the estimated fair values of assets acquired and liabilities assumed in a business combination, we use various recognized valuation methods, including discounted cash flow, Monte Carlo simulations, and relief from royalty. For a business combination achieved in stages, we remeasure our previously held equity interest immediately before the acquisition to the acquisition date fair value and recognize any gain in our Consolidated Statements of Income. We recognize the fair value of any contingent payments at the date of acquisition as part of the consideration transferred to acquire a business. The liability associated with contingent consideration is remeasured to fair value at each reporting period subsequent to the date of acquisition considering factors that may impact the timing and amount of contingent payments until the term of the agreement has expired or the contingency is resolved. Any changes in the fair value measurement will be recorded in our Consolidated Statements of Income. In evaluating the characterization of contingent and deferred payments, we analyze relevant factors, including the nature of the payment, continuing employment requirements, incremental payments to employees of the acquired business, and timing and rationale underlying the transaction, to determine whether the payments should be accounted for as additional purchase consideration or post- combination related services. We expense direct costs related to the business combination, such as accounting, legal, valuation, and other professional fees, as incurred. We recognize restructuring costs, including severance and relocation for employees of the acquired entity, as post- combination expenses unless the target entity meets the criteria of FASB ASC 420, Exit or Disposal Cost Obligations, on the acquisition date. As part of the purchase price allocation, we follow the requirements of FASB ASC 740, Income Taxes (FASB ASC 740). This includes establishing deferred tax assets or liabilities reflecting the difference between the values assigned for financial statement purposes and income tax purposes. In certain acquisitions, the goodwill resulting from the purchase price allocation may not be deductible for income tax purposes. FASB ASC 740 prohibits recognition of a deferred tax asset or liability for temporary differences in goodwill if goodwill is not amortizable and deductible for tax purposes. Divestitures We may sell certain portions of our business from time to time for various reasons. In accordance with FASB ASC 360, Property, Plant, and Equipment (FASB ASC 360), we classify a disposal group to be sold as held for sale in the period in which all of the following criteria are met: management commits to a plan to sell the disposal group; the disposal group is available for immediate sale; the sale and transfer of the disposal group is expected within one year; the disposal group is being actively marketed for sale at a price that is reasonable in relation to its current fair value; and it is unlikely that significant changes to the plan will be made or that the plan will be withdrawn. A disposal group that is classified as held for sale is initially measured at the lower of its carrying value or fair value less any costs to sell and the assets are not depreciated or amortized. If the disposal group meets the definition of a business, the goodwill within the reporting unit is allocated to the disposal group based on its relative fair value. When the disposal group is a component of a reporting unit, the remaining unallocated goodwill is assessed to determine if any triggering events have occurred in accordance with FASB ASC 350, Intangibles – Goodwill and Other (FASB ASC 350). We assess the fair value of a disposal group, less any costs to sell, each reporting period the disposal group remains classified as held for sale and report any subsequent changes as an adjustment to the carrying value of the disposal group, as long as the new carrying value does not exceed the initial carrying value of the disposal group. We recognize a gain or loss on divestiture activity when we transfer control of the disposal group and when it is probable that we will collect substantially all of the related consideration. Changes in the carrying amount of our recorded goodwill are mainly the result of business acquisitions and the effect of foreign currency translations. In accordance with FASB ASC 350 ~~, Intangibles — Goodwill and Other~~ , we do not amortize goodwill; instead, goodwill is subject to an impairment test annually, or whenever indicators of impairment exist. An impairment would occur if the carrying amount of a reporting unit exceeded the fair value of that reporting unit. When reviewing goodwill for impairment, we assess a number of qualitative factors to determine whether it is more likely than not that the fair value of our reporting units is less than their respective carrying values. Examples of qualitative factors that we assess include macroeconomic conditions affecting our reporting units, financial performance of our reporting units, market and competitive factors related to our reporting units, and other events specific to our reporting units. If we conclude that it is more likely than not that the fair value of a reporting unit is less than its carrying value, we perform a quantitative impairment test. The quantitative impairment test compares the estimated fair value of the reporting unit to its carrying value, and recognizes an impairment loss for the amount by which a reporting unit' s carrying amount exceeds its fair value, without exceeding the total amount of goodwill allocated to that reporting unit. We determine the fair value of a reporting unit using a market approach. Determining the fair value of a reporting unit involves judgment and the use of significant estimates and assumptions, which include assumptions regarding the revenue growth rates and operating margins used to calculate estimated future cash flows, as well as revenue and earnings multiples of publicly traded companies whose services and markets are comparable. We performed our annual impairment review in the fourth quarter and did not record any impairment losses in 2024, 2023, and 2022 ~~, and 2021~~ . We amortize intangible assets using the straight-line method over their estimated useful lives, which range from one to twenty years. We have no intangible assets with indefinite useful lives. In accordance with FASB ASC 360- 10- 35, Subsequent Measurement — Impairment or Disposal of Long- Lived Assets, we review intangible assets for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying value may not be recoverable. If the value of future undiscounted cash flows is less than the carrying amount of an asset group, we record an impairment loss based on the excess of the carrying amount over the fair value of the asset group. We did not record any impairment losses in 2024, 2023, and 2022 ~~, and 2021~~ . Property, Equipment, and Depreciation We state property and equipment at historical cost, net of accumulated depreciation in accordance with FASB ASC 360- 10, Property, Plant, and Equipment. We depreciate property and equipment using the straight- line method based on the useful life of the asset, which ranges from three to seven years. We amortize leasehold improvements over the lease term or their useful lives, whichever is shorter. Long- lived assets that are held and used are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying value may not be recoverable. If the value of future undiscounted cash flows is less than the carrying amount of an asset group, we record an impairment loss based on the excess of the carrying amount over the fair value of the asset group. Computer Software and Internal Product Development Costs We capitalize certain costs in accordance with FASB ASC 350- 40, Internal- Use Software. Internal product development costs mainly consist of employee and third- party resource costs for developing new web- based products and certain major enhancements of existing products. We amortize these costs on a straight- line basis over the estimated economic life, which is generally three years. We include capitalized software development costs related to projects that have not been placed into service in our construction in progress balance. The table below summarizes our depreciation expense related to capitalized developed software for the past three years: (in millions) ~~202320222021Capitalized~~ ---- 202420232022Capitalized software depreciation expense $ 94. 9 $ 81. 2 $ 64. 3 ~~$ 59. 9~~ The table below summarizes our capitalized software development costs for the past three years: (in millions) ~~202320222021Capitalized~~ ---- 202420232022Capitalized software development costs $ 106. 4 $ 100. 0 $ 81 ~~. 0 $ 74~~ . 0 Leases We account for our right- of- use assets and operating lease liabilities in accordance with FASB ASC 842, Leases (FASB ASC 842). We determine if a contract is or contains a lease at the inception of the contract. For identified operating leases, we recognize a lease liability and right- of- use asset on the consolidated balance sheet. The right- of- use asset represents our right to use an underlying asset for the lease term, and the operating lease liability represents the company' s obligation to make lease payments. Our lease agreements consist primarily of real estate leases for office space and non- real estate leases for office equipment. In cases where an agreement contains both a lease and non- lease component, we do not allocate consideration to both components, but account for each as a single lease component by class of underlying asset. There are few instances of short- term agreements in our lease portfolio, which are typically arranged as needed and paid on a month- to- month basis. These leases are not recognized on the Consolidated Balance Sheet, but monthly lease expense is recognized on the Consolidated Statements of Income. Right- of- use assets and operating lease liabilities are measured using the present value of future lease payments of the lease term at the commencement date. Right- of- use assets also include initial direct costs incurred by the company, net of prepayments and lease incentives. In the absence of an explicit rate in the lease agreement, the discount rate used to calculate present value is equal to the company' s incremental borrowing rate. Operating lease expense is recognized on a straight- line basis over the life of the lease and is included in general and administrative expenses on the Consolidated Statements of Income. We recognize revenue in accordance with FASB ASC Topic 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (FASB ASC Topic 606). Under FASB ASC Topic 606, we recognize revenue by applying the following five- step model to each of our customer arrangements: 1. Identify the customer contract; 2. Identify the performance obligations in the contract; 3. Determine the transaction price; 4. Allocate the transaction price to the performance obligations; and 5. Recognize revenue when (or as) performance obligations are satisfied. Revenues are recognized when (or as) performance obligations are satisfied by transferring a promised product or service to the customer. Products or services are transferred when (or as) the customer obtains control of the product or service. When a customer' s license- based contract is signed, the customer' s service is activated immediately. The transaction price for a customer arrangement is the amount we expect to be entitled to in exchange for transferring the promised product or service. The transaction price may include fixed amounts, variable amounts, or both. When the right to payment exceeds revenue recognized, the result is an increase to deferred revenue. Deferred revenue represents the amount billed or collected in advance of the service being provided which we expect to recognize as revenue in future periods. Revenue from contracts with customers is derived from license- based arrangements, asset- based arrangements, and transaction- based arrangements. License- based revenue, which represents subscription services available to customers and not a license under the accounting guidance, is generated through subscription contracts. Our performance obligations under these contracts are typically satisfied over time, as the customer has access to the service during the term of the subscription license and the level of service is consistent during the contract period. Each individual day within the contract period is viewed to be a service and the entirety of the service subscription term is determined to be a series combined into a single performance obligation and recognized over- time and on a straight- line basis, typically over terms of 1 to 3 years. ~~When a~~ Our contracts with ~~customer~~ customers ~~' s license-~~ may include multiple performance obligations. For most of these arrangements, we generally allocate revenue to each performance obligation based ~~contract~~ on its estimated standalone selling price. We generally determine standalone selling prices based on prices charged to customers when the same performance obligation is sold separately ~~signed, the customer' s service is activated immediately, except where customizations are required~~ . License- based arrangements, our largest source of revenue from customers, generally are billed quarterly or annually. Customers are typically given payment terms of zero to 30 days. Asset- based revenue is generated through contracts with daily asset management, which is determined to be a daily performance obligation and thus satisfied over time as the customer receives continuous access to a service for the contract term. We recognize revenue daily over the contract term based on the value of assets under management and a tiered fee agreed to with the customer. Asset- based arrangements typically have a term of 1 to 3 years. The fees from such arrangements represent variable consideration, and the customer does not make separate purchasing decisions that result in additional performance obligations. Significant changes in the underlying fund assets, or significant disruptions in the market, are evaluated to determine if revisions to estimates of earned asset- based fees for the current quarter are needed. An estimate of the average daily portfolio balance is a key input in determining revenue for a given period. Estimates are based on the most recently reported quarter, and, as a result, it is unlikely a significant reversal of revenue would occur. Transaction- based revenue is generated through contracts with performance obligations that are satisfied when the product or service is delivered. Some of our performance obligations include the issuance of the rating and may include surveillance services for a period of time as agreed with the customer. We allocate the transaction price to the deliverables based on their relative selling price, which is generally determined by the historical pricing allocations ~~price we charge when the same deliverable is sold separately~~ . Our performance obligation for the issuance of the rating is satisfied when the rating is issued, which is when we recognize the related revenue. Our performance obligations for surveillance services are satisfied over time, as the customer has access to the service during the surveillance period and the level of service is consistent during the contract period. Therefore, we recognize revenue for this performance obligation on a straight- line basis ~~. Our contracts with customers may include multiple performance obligations. For most of these arrangements, we generally allocate revenue to each performance obligation based on its estimated standalone selling price. We generally determine standalone selling prices based on prices charged to customers when the same performance obligation is sold separately~~ . Accounts Receivables and Allowance for Credit Losses We account for accounts receivable in accordance with FASB ASC Topic 310, Receivables (FASB ASC 310) and FASB ASC Topic 326, Financial Instruments- Credit Losses (FASB ASC 326). We record a receivable when a customer is billed or when revenue is recognized prior to billing a customer. Accounts receivables are measured at amortized cost basis. We evaluate our allowance to include expected credit losses based on a variety of factors, including customer specific information, the current economic environment, and forecasted macroeconomic conditions. Sales Commissions We capitalize sales commissions, which are considered directly attributable to obtaining a customer contract under FASB ASC Topic 606 and FASB ASC 340- 40, Other Assets and Deferred Costs- Contracts with Customers. Estimates of these capitalized costs are developed by using a portfolio approach that aggregates these costs by legal entity within their geographical regions. Capitalized sales commissions are amortized using the straight- line method over a period that is consistent with the transfer of the products or services to the customer to which the sales commission relates. The period of transfer for each portfolio is the shorter of the weighted- average customer life, or the economic life of the underlying technology that delivers the products or services. As of December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 , the period of transfer was determined to be approximately three years. Discretionary amounts which are added to sales commission payments are expensed as incurred, as they are not considered to be directly attributable to obtaining a customer contract. The table below summarizes the amortization of deferred commissions for the past three years: (in millions) 202420232022Amortization of deferred commissions $ 50. 6 $ 48. 6 $ 40. 4 Stock- Based Compensation Expense We account for our stock- based compensation expense in accordance with FASB ASC 718, Compensation — Stock Compensation (FASB ASC 718). Our stock- based compensation expense reflects grants of restricted stock units, ~~performance share awards, and~~ market stock units , and performance stock units . We measure the fair value of our restricted stock units and performance ~~share awards~~ stock units on the grant date based on the closing market price of Morningstar' s common stock on the day prior to the grant. For market stock units, we estimate the fair value of the awards using a Monte Carlo valuation model. We amortize the fair values to stock- based compensation expense, net of estimated forfeitures, ratably over the vesting period. For performance stock units, we estimate the probability of award achievement and adjust our stock- based compensation expense accordingly. We estimate expected forfeitures on ~~of all~~ employee stock- based awards and recognize compensation cost only for those awards expected to vest. We determine forfeiture rates based on historical experience and adjust the estimated forfeitures to actual forfeiture experience, as needed. We record deferred income taxes for the temporary differences between the carrying amount of assets and liabilities for financial statement purposes and tax purposes in accordance with FASB ASC 740, which prescribes the minimum recognition threshold a tax position is required to meet before being recognized in the financial statements. It also provides guidance on derecognition, measurement, classification, interest and penalties, accounting in interim periods, and disclosure for uncertain tax positions. We recognize interest and penalties related to unrecognized tax benefits as part of income tax expense in our Consolidated Statements of Income. We classify liabilities related to unrecognized tax benefits as either current or long- term liabilities in our Consolidated Balance Sheet, depending on when we expect to make payment. Segment Reporting Under FASB ASC 280, Segment Reporting (FASB ASC 280), operating segments are defined as components of a company that engage in business activities from which they may earn revenues and incur expenses, and for which discrete financial information is available and is evaluated regularly by the chief operating decision maker (CODM) in deciding how to allocate resources and in assessing performance. Aggregation of similar operating segments into a single reportable operating segment is permitted if the businesses have similar economic characteristics and meet established qualitative criteria. Effective as of December 31, 2023, we revised our presentation of our seven operating segments to the following five reportable segments: Morningstar Data and Analytics, PitchBook, Morningstar Credit, Morningstar Wealth ~~, Morningstar Credit~~ , and Morningstar Retirement. The operating segments of Morningstar Sustainalytics and Morningstar Indexes do not individually meet the quantitative segment reporting thresholds and have been combined and presented as part of Corporate and All Other, which is not a reportable segment. Corporate and All Other provides a reconciliation between revenue from our reportable segments and consolidated revenue amounts. Refer to Note 6 for detailed segment information. We account for post- employment benefits in accordance with FASB ASC 712, Compensation- Non- retirement Post- employment Benefits (FASB ASC 712). Under FASB ASC 712, we recognize compensation expense associated with these benefits as a liability when probable and estimable. In July 2022, the company began to significantly reduce its operations in Shenzhen, China and to shift the work related to its global business functions, including global product and software development, managed investment data collection and analysis, and equity data collection and analysis, to other Morningstar locations. During the third quarter of 2023, the company substantially completed these activities. As a result of these activities, the company incurred $ 25. 9 million of severance expense in 2022. These amounts were recorded within" General and administrative" on our Consolidated Statements of Income. The liability was recorded within" Accrued compensation- current" on our Consolidated Balance Sheet. The company has substantially paid all of the accrued severance amounts as of December 31, 2023. In 2023, the company incurred $ 15. 4 million of severance expense of which $ 9. 0 million was related to targeted reorganizations and headcount reductions in certain parts of the business and $ 2. 4 million was related to the ~~Company~~ company ' s China operations transition during 2023. 3. On May 6, 2022, the company terminated the 2019 Credit Agreement. On May 6, 2022, the company entered into a new senior credit agreement (the 2022 Credit Agreement). The 2022 Credit Agreement provided the company with a five- year multi- currency credit facility with an initial borrowing capacity of up to $ 1. 1 billion, including a $ 650. 0 million term loan (the 2022 Term Facility) with an initial draw of $ 600. 0 million and an option for a second draw of up to $ 50. 0 million and a $ 450. 0 million revolving credit facility (the 2022 Revolving Credit Facility). The 2022 Credit Agreement also provided for the issuance of up to $ 50. 0 million of letters of credit and a $ 100. 0 million sub- limit for a swingline. The proceeds of the first draw under the 2022 Term Facility and initial borrowings under the 2022 Revolving Credit Facility were used to finance the acquisition of Leveraged Commentary & Data (LCD) and to repay a portion of the borrowings under the 2019 Revolving Credit Facility. The optional second draw on the 2022 Term Facility was available to fund the contingent consideration payment of up to $ 50. 0 million in connection with the LCD acquisition. The interest rate applicable to any loan under the Amended 2022 Credit Agreement is, at the company' s option, either: (i) the applicable Secured Overnight Financing Rate (SOFR) plus an applicable margin for such loans, which ranges between 1. 00 % and 1. 48 %, based on the company' s consolidated leverage ratio or (ii) the lender' s base rate plus the applicable margin for such loans, which ranges between 0. 00 % and 0. 38 %, based on our consolidated leverage ratio. The portions of deferred debt issuance costs related to the Amended 2022 Revolving Credit Facility are included in other current and non- current assets, and the portion of deferred debt issuance costs related to the Amended 2022 Term Facility is reported as a reduction to the carrying amount of the Amended 2022 Term Facility. Debt issuance costs related to the Amended 2022 Revolving Credit Facility are amortized on a straight- line basis to interest expense over the term of the Amended 2022 Credit Agreement. Debt issuance costs related to the Amended 2022 Term Facility are amortized to interest expense using the effective interest method over the term of the Amended 2022 Credit Agreement. On October 26, 2020, we completed the issuance and sale of $ 350. 0 million aggregate principal amount of 2. 32 % senior notes due October 26, 2030 (the 2030 Notes), in a private placement exempt from the registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. Proceeds were primarily used to pay off a portion of the company' s outstanding debt under the 2019 Credit Agreement. Interest on the 2030 Notes will be paid semi- annually on each October 30 and April 30 during the term of the 2030 Notes and at maturity, with the first interest payment date occurring on April 30, 2021. As of December 31, 2023, our total outstanding debt, net of issuance costs, under the 2030 Notes was $ 348. 5 million.~~ Each of the Amended 2022 Credit Agreement and the 2030 Notes include customary representations, warranties, and covenants, including financial covenants, that require us to maintain specified ratios of consolidated earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization (EBITDA) to consolidated interest charges and consolidated funded indebtedness to consolidated EBITDA, which are ~~tested~~ evaluated on a quarterly basis. We were in compliance with these financial covenants as of December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 . 4. License- based agreements typically have a term of 1 to 3 years and are accounted for as subscription services available to customers and not as a license under the accounting guidance. Asset- based performance obligations are satisfied over time as the customer receives continuous access to a service for the term of the agreement. Asset- based arrangements typically have a term of 1 to 3 years. Asset- based fees represent variable consideration, and the customer does not make separate purchasing decisions that result in additional performance obligations. The timing of client asset reporting and the structure of certain contracts can result in a lag between market movements and the impact on earned revenue. Significant changes in the underlying fund assets and significant disruptions in the market are evaluated to determine whether estimates of earned asset- based fees need to be revised for the current~~ quarter ended March 31 ~~. An estimate of variable consideration is included in the initial transaction price only to the extent it is probable that a significant reversal in the amount of the revenue recognized will not occur. Estimates of asset- based fees are based on the most recently completed quarter and~~ . 2024 ~~as a result~~ , ~~it is unlikely a significant reversal of revenue would occur. Transaction- based performance obligations are satisfied when the product or service is completed or delivered. We record contract liabilities when cash payments are received or due in advance of our performance, including amounts which may be refundable. The contract liabilities balance as of December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 had a net increase of $ ~~54~~ 19 . ~~9~~ 2 million, primarily driven by cash payments received or payable in advance of satisfying our performance obligations. We expect to recognize revenue related to our contract liabilities, including future billings, for ~~2024~~ 2025 and subsequent years as follows: (in millions) As of December 31, ~~20232024~~ 20242025 $ ~~970~~ 1, 068 . 0 ~~2025289~~ 2026277. 2 202775. 3 202817. 4 20294 . 6 ~~202694. 8 202714. 9 20286. 3~~ Thereafter ~~22~~ 19 . ~~6~~ 0 Total $ 1, ~~398~~ 461 . ~~2~~ 5 The aggregate amount of revenue we expect to recognize for ~~2024~~ 2025 and subsequent years is higher than our contract liability balance of $ ~~544~~ 563 . ~~0~~ 2 million as of December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 . The difference represents the value of future obligations for signed contracts that have yet to be billed. The table above does not include variable consideration for unsatisfied performance obligations related to certain of our license- based, asset- based, and transaction- based contracts as of December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 . We are applying the optional exemption available under FASB ASC Topic 606, as the variable consideration relates to these unsatisfied performance obligations being fulfilled as a series. The performance obligations related to these contracts are expected to be satisfied over the next 1 to 3 years as services are provided to the client. For certain license- based contracts, ~~the~~ variable consideration is received for services performed is based on the number of future users, which is not known until the services are performed. The variable consideration for this revenue can be affected by the number of user licenses, which cannot be reasonably estimated. For asset- based contracts, all the consideration received for services performed is based on future asset values, which are not known until the services are performed. The variable consideration for this revenue can be affected by changes in the underlying value of fund assets due to client redemptions, additional investments, or movements in the market. For transaction- based contracts ~~for Internet advertising~~ , the consideration received for most Internet advertising services performed is based on the number of impressions, which is not known until the impressions are created. The variable consideration for this revenue can be affected by the timing and quantity of impressions in any given period and cannot be reasonably estimated. As of December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 , the table above also does not include revenue for unsatisfied performance obligations related to certain of our license- based and transaction- based contracts with durations of one year or less since we are applying the optional exemption under FASB ASC Topic 606. For certain license- based contracts, the remaining performance obligation is expected to be less than one year based on the corresponding subscription terms or the existence of cancellation terms that may be exercised causing the contract term to be less than one year from December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 . For transaction- based contracts, such as new credit rating issuances and Morningstar- sponsored conferences, the related performance obligations are expected to be satisfied within the next 12 months. FASB ASC 280 establishes standards for reporting information about operating segments. Operating segments are defined as components of an enterprise about which separate financial information is available that is evaluated regularly by the CODM, in deciding how to allocate resources and assess performance. The company' s chief executive officer, who is considered to be its CODM, reviews ~~financial information~~ segment revenue and Segment Adjusted Operating Income presented on an operating segment basis for purposes of making operating decisions and assessing financial performance. ~~The~~ For each segment, the CODM uses ~~allocates resources and assesses performance of segments based on~~ segment revenue and ~~as well as Adjusted Operating Income.~~ Segment Adjusted Operating Income ~~excludes intangible amortization,~~ in the annual budget and forecasting process. The CODM considers budget- to- actual variance when making decisions about allocating capital and personnel. We define Segment Adjusted Operating Income as operating income excluding all ~~merger~~ mergers and ~~acquisition~~ acquisitions (M & A)- related expenses and gains (related to merger, acquisition, and divestiture activity including ~~M & A- related~~ earn- outs), intangible amortization, and ~~items~~ expenses related to the significant reduction and shift of the company' s operations in China ~~, such as severance and personnel expenses, transformation costs, and asset impairment costs~~. The CODM does not consider these ~~items~~ adjustments for the purposes of making decisions to allocate resources among segments or to assess segment performance. Although the amounts are excluded from segment Adjusted Operating Income, they are included in reported consolidated operating income and are included in the reconciliation to consolidated results. Expenses presented as part of the company' s segments include allocations of shared costs . Shared costs include technology, investment research, sales, facilities, and marketing . These allocations are based on expected utilization of shared resources. Adjusted Operating Income is the reported measure that the company believes is most consistent with those used in measuring the corresponding amount in the consolidated financial statements. The CODM does not review any information regarding total assets on a segment basis. Operating segments do not record intersegment revenues; therefore, there is none to be reported. The following tables present information about the company' s reportable segments for the years ended December 31, 2024, 2023, and 2022 ~~, and 2021~~ along with the items necessary to reconcile the segment information to the totals reported in the accompanying consolidated financial statements. The contingent consideration reflected potential future payments that were contingent upon the achievement of certain conditions related to the separation of LCD' s contractual relationships from S & P Global (S & P) contracts that included other S & P products and services. This additional purchase consideration, for which the amount was contingent, was recognized at fair value at the date of acquisition, which was calculated as the weighted average of the estimated contingent payment scenarios. The contingent consideration was remeasured each reporting period until the contingency was resolved with any changes in fair value recorded in the current period earnings. In the first quarter of 2023~~ 2024 ~~, we made a cash payment of $ 50. 0 million, resolving our contingent consideration liability related to our acquisition of LCD. 8. Acquisitions, Goodwill, and Other Intangible Assets~~ 2023 Acquisitions We did not make any significant acquisitions during 2023. 2022 Acquisitions On June 1, 2022, we completed our acquisition of LCD, a market leader in news, research, data, insights, and indexes for the leveraged finance market, from S & P for an initial cash payment of $ 600. 0 million plus a contingent payment of up to $ 50. 0 million. We began consolidating the financial results of LCD in our consolidated financial statements as of June 1, 2022. The total consideration transferred was recorded as $ 645. 5 million, comprised of a $ 600. 0 million cash payment plus contingent consideration with an acquisition date fair value of $ 45. 5 million. The transaction was accounted for as a business combination under the acquisition method of accounting pursuant to FASB ASC 805, which requires that assets acquired and liabilities assumed be recognized at fair value as of the acquisition date. We finalized the purchase price allocation related to our acquisition of LCD during the second quarter of 2023 and did not record any significant adjustments compared to the preliminary estimates at the date of acquisition. The final contingent consideration was determined based upon the achievement of certain conditions related to the separation of LCD' s contractual relationships from S & P contracts that include other S & P products and services during the six- month period following closing. To estimate the fair value of the contingent consideration at the acquisition date, we calculated the weighted average of the estimated contingent payment scenarios. At subsequent balance sheet dates, the contingent consideration was measured at fair value and any changes in the estimate were recorded in earnings unless the change in fair value was the result of facts and circumstances that existed as of the acquisition date. During the third and fourth quarters of 2022, the contingent consideration was remeasured and increased by $ 0. 9 million and $ 3. 6 million, respectively, for total consideration of $ 50. 0 million as of December 31, 2022. The contingent consideration is classified as" Contingent consideration liabilities" on our Consolidated Balance Sheet as of December 31, 2022. On February 6, 2023, we made a cash payment of $ 50. 0 million, resolving our contingent consideration liability related to our acquisition of LCD. We collected substantially all of the gross contractual amounts receivable within a reasonable period of time after the acquisition date. Leases We lease office space and certain equipment under various operating and finance leases, with most of our lease portfolio consisting of operating leases for office space. We determine whether an arrangement is, or includes, an embedded lease at contract inception. Operating lease assets and lease liabilities are recognized at the commencement date and initially measured using the present value of lease payments over the defined lease term. Lease expense is recognized on a straight- line basis over the lease term. For finance leases, we also recognize a finance lease asset and finance lease liability at inception, with lease expense recognized as interest expense and amortization. A contract is or contains an embedded lease if the contract meets all of the below criteria: • there is an identified asset; • we obtain substantially all the economic benefits of the asset; and • we have the right to direct the use of the asset. For initial measurement of the present value of lease payments and for subsequent measurement of lease modifications, we are required to use the rate implicit in the lease, if available. However, as most of our leases do not provide an implicit rate, we use our incremental borrowing rate, which is a collateralized rate. To apply the incremental borrowing rate, we used a portfolio approach and grouped leases based on similar lease terms in a manner whereby we reasonably expect that the application does not differ materially from a lease- by- lease approach. Our leases have remaining lease terms of approximately 1 year to ~~12~~ 11 years, which may include the option to extend the lease when it is reasonably certain we will exercise that option. We do not have lease agreements with residual value guarantees, sale leaseback terms, or material restrictive covenants. Leases with an initial term of 12 months or less are not recognized on the balance sheet. We recognize lease expense for these leases on a straight- line basis over the lease term. Our operating lease expense for the years ended December 31, 2024, 2023, and 2022 ~~, and 2021~~ was $ 44. 1 million, $ 47. 6 million, and $ 41. 6 ~~million, and $ 42. 5~~ million, respectively. Charges related to our operating leases that are variable and, therefore, not included in the measurement of the lease liabilities were $ 14. 9 million and $ 18. 0 ~~million and $ 16. 9~~ million for the years ended December 31, 2024 and 2023 ~~and 2022~~, respectively. In 2024, 2023, and 2022 , and 2021 , we made matching contributions to our 401 (k) plan in an amount equal to 75 cents for every dollar of an employee' s contribution, up to a maximum of 7 % of the employee' s compensation in the pay period. The company' s effective tax rate was favorably impacted by the book gain in excess of taxable gain on the sale of its Commodity and Energy Data business and was offset by deferred taxes that we recorded with respect to unremitted foreign earnings. Further, our 2023 effective tax rate was lower primarily due to the recognition of tax benefits related to a retroactive tax election. Our effective tax rate for the year ended December 31, 2023 was 19. 0 %, a decrease of 25. 5 percentage points, compared with 44. 5 % in 2022 the prior year . This The decrease is primarily attributable to the recognition of $ 13. 7 million of tax benefits related to a retroactive tax election with respect to our 2021 and 2022 tax periods that was made in 2022 but not approved until 2023 . We received confirmation of the approval of the tax election in the second quarter of 2023, which allowed us to recognize the tax benefits in that period. Our effective tax rate for the year ended December 31, 2022 was 44. 5 %, an increase of 20. 0 percentage points, compared with 24. 5 % in 2021. The increase was primarily attributable to minimum taxes, non- deductible expenses, and additional reserves for uncertain tax positions. The amount of accumulated undistributed earnings of our foreign subsidiaries was $ 274 304 . 3 0 million as of December 31, 2023 2024 . We generally consider most of our US U. S. directly- owned foreign subsidiary earnings to be permanently reinvested . During the fourth quarter of 2024, we determined $ 142. 0 million in earnings of certain of our foreign subsidiaries to be no longer permanently reinvested. We anticipate a one- time repatriation of these earnings back the US via distribution later in 2025. We have recorded a deferred tax liability of $ 7. 1 million that reflects the income tax effects of the repatriation of these earnings, mostly due to non- US withholding taxes, that would be due at the time of remittance . We have not recorded deferred income taxes on the $ 274. 3 million primarily remaining balance of accumulated undistributed earnings of our foreign subsidiaries because most of we consider these those earnings were previously subject to be permanently reinvested, the one- time deemed mandatory repatriation tax under the Tax Cuts and we do Jobs Act of 2017 (Tax Reform Act). We maintain a deferred tax liability for foreign withholding taxes on certain foreign affiliate parent companies that are not indefinitely reinvested anticipate dividends in the foreseeable future . Included in this increase, is the valuation allowance of $ 8 26 . 1 2 million are $ 9. 7 million of foreign tax credits that will expire in 2031 through 2033 2034 . In assessing the need for a valuation allowance, many factors are considered, including the specific taxing jurisdiction, the carryforward period, income tax strategies and forecasted earnings for the entities in each jurisdiction. A valuation allowance is recognized if, based on the weight of available evidence, it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax asset assets will not be realized. The deferred tax assets and liabilities are presented in our Consolidated Balance Sheets as follows: As of December 31, (in millions) 20232022Deferred ---- 20242023Deferred tax asset, net $ 43. 2 $ 14. 6 $ 10. 8 Deferred tax liability, net (27. 6) (35. 6) (62. 9) Deferred tax asset (liability) , net $ 15. 6 $ (21. 0) $ (52. 1) We utilized our remaining U. S. NOL carryforwards as of December 31, 2023 compared with the same period in 2022 primarily reflects NOLs generated from compensation and related liabilities attributable to the shift of our China operations. In assessing the realizability of our deferred tax assets, we consider whether it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. We recorded a valuation allowance against approximately $ 59. 6 4 million of the non- US U. S. NOLs, reflecting the likelihood that the benefit of these NOLs will not be realized. Unrecognized Tax Benefits We conduct business globally and, as a result, we file income tax returns in US U. S. federal, state, local, and foreign jurisdictions. In the normal course of business, we are subject to examination by tax authorities throughout the world. The With the exception of 2019, the open tax years for our US U. S. Federal tax returns and most state tax returns include the years 2016 2020 to the present. We are currently under audit by federal, state , and local tax authorities in the US U. S. as well as tax authorities in certain non- US U. S. jurisdictions. It is likely that the examination phase of some of these federal, state, local, and non- US U. S. audits will conclude in 2024 2025 . It is not possible to estimate the effect of current audits on previously recorded unrecognized tax benefits. As of December 31, 2023 2024 , our Consolidated Balance Sheet included a current liability of $ 6 0 . 2 1 million and a non- current liability of $ 8 11 . 3 7 million for unrecognized tax benefits. Contingencies We record accrued liabilities for litigation, regulatory, and other business matters when those matters represent loss contingencies that are both probable and estimable. In these cases, there may be an exposure to loss in excess of any amounts accrued. Unless a loss contingency is both probable and estimable, we do not establish an accrued liability. As litigation, regulatory, or other business matters develop, we evaluate on an ongoing basis whether such matters present a loss contingency that is probable and estimable. Data Audits and Reviews In our global data business, we include in our products, or directly redistribute to our customers, data and information licensed from third- party vendors. Our compliance with the terms of these licenses is reviewed internally and is also subject to audit by the third- party vendors. At any given time, we may be undergoing several such internal reviews and third- party vendor audits, and the results and findings may indicate that we may be required to make a payment for prior data usage. Due to a lack of available information and data, as well as potential variations of any audit or internal review findings, we generally are not able to reasonably estimate a possible loss, or range of losses, for these matters. In situations where more information or specific areas subject to audit are available, we may be able to estimate a potential range of losses. While we cannot predict the outcome of these processes, we do not anticipate they will have a material adverse effect on our business, operating results, or financial position. Ratings and Regulatory Matters Our ~~businesses may be~~ ratings and related research activities , including credit ratings, ESG risk ratings, managed investment, and equity ratings, are or may in the future become subject to regulation or increased scrutiny from executive, legislative, regulatory, and private parties. As a result, those activities may be subject to governmental, regulatory, and legislative investigations, regulatory examinations in the ordinary course of business, subpoenas, and other forms of legal process, which may lead to claims and litigation that are based on ~~our~~ these ratings and related research activities ~~, including credit ratings, ESG ratings, managed investment, and equity ratings~~ . Our regulated ~~Additionally, our~~ businesses are generally ~~may also be~~ subject to periodic reviews, inspections, examinations, and investigations by regulators in the jurisdictions in which they operate, any of which may result in claims, legal proceedings, assessments, fines, penalties, disgorgement, or restrictions on business activities. While it is difficult to predict the outcome of any particular investigation or proceeding, we do not believe the result of any of these matters will have a material adverse effect on our business, operating results, or financial position. ~~Credit Ratings Matters On September 29, 2023, DBRS, Inc. (DBRS) entered into two settlements with the SEC to resolve investigations of DBRS' s compliance with recordkeeping requirements for certain credit ratings- related communications sent over unapproved electronic messaging channels and disclosure and non- financial internal controls requirements related to former commercial mortgage- backed securities (CMBS) ratings methodologies DBRS used during the period July 2019 through November 2022. Under the terms of the settlements, DBRS agreed to ongoing compliance- related obligations to resolve the investigation related to record- keeping and paid a $ 6. 0 million civil monetary penalty to the SEC for this matter, and also paid a $ 2. 0 million civil monetary penalty to the SEC to resolve the investigation related to CMBS ratings methodologies, both in early October 2023.~~ Other Matters We are involved from time to time in commercial disputes and legal proceedings that arise in the normal course of our business. While it is difficult to predict the outcome of any particular dispute or proceeding, we do not believe the result of any of these matters will have a material adverse effect on our business, operating results, or financial position. ~~16~~ 18 . Share Repurchase Program 19 ~~For the year ended December 31, 2023, we repurchased a total of 8, 484 shares for $ 1. 4 million. Recent Accounting Pronouncements Recently adopted accounting pronouncements ~~Income Taxes: On December 18, 2019, the FASB issued ASU No. 2019- 12, Simplifying the Accounting for Income Taxes (ASU No. 2019- 12), which is intended to simplify the accounting for income taxes by removing certain exceptions to the general principles of FASB ASC 740, Income Taxes, and providing for simplification in several other areas. The new standard became effective for us on January 1, 2021. The adoption of ASU No. 2019- 12 did not have a material impact on our consolidated financial statements, related disclosures, or results of operations.~~ Reference Rate Reform: ~~On~~ In March ~~12,~~ 2020, the FASB issued ASU No. 2020- 04: Facilitation of the Effects of Reference Rate Reform on Financial Reporting (Topic 848) (ASU No. 2020- 04), which provides temporary optional expedients and exceptions for applying generally accepted accounting principles to contract modifications resulting from reference rate reform initiatives. The intention of the standard is to ease the potential accounting and financial reporting burden associated with transitioning away from the expiring London Interbank Offered Rate (LIBOR) and other interbank offered rates to alternative benchmark rates. The amendments in this update are applicable to contract modifications that replace a reference LIBOR rate beginning on March 12, 2020 through December 31, 2022. On May 6, 2022, we terminated our 2019 Credit Agreement and entered into the 2022 Credit Agreement in connection with the acquisition of LCD. As we entered into the 2022 Credit Agreement for reasons unrelated to reference rate reform, ASU No. 2020- 04 is not applicable. See Note 3 for additional information on our 2022 Credit Agreement and Note ~~8~~ 9 for additional information on our acquisition of LCD. The new standard was effective for us on January 1, 2023. We elected to early adopt ASU No. 2021- 08 during 2022 and the adoption did not have a material effect on our consolidated financial statements, related disclosures, and results of operations. ~~Recently issued accounting pronouncements not yet adopted~~ Segment reporting: ~~On~~ In November ~~27,~~ 2023, the FASB issued ASU No. 2023- 07: Improvements to Reportable Segment Disclosures (Topic 280) (ASU No. 2023- 07), which requires improved reportable segment disclosures, primarily through enhanced disclosures about significant segment expenses. Based on that evaluation, our chief executive officer and chief financial officer concluded that our disclosure controls and procedures were ~~are not~~ effective as of December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 ~~, due solely~~ to ~~the material weakness~~ provide reasonable assurance that information required to be disclosed in the ~~internal control over financial reporting~~ reports we file ~~related to segment reporting described below. Notwithstanding the material weakness described below, our~~ or submit under the Exchange Act meets the requirements listed above. Our chief executive officer and chief financial officer have concluded that the consolidated financial statements in this Annual Report on Form 10- K (this Report) fairly present, in all material respects, the company' s financial position and results of operations and cash flows as of and for the periods presented, in conformity with US ~~U. S.~~ generally accepted accounting principles. (b) Management' s Report on Internal Control Over Financial Reporting Our management is responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control over financial reporting (as defined under Rules 13a- 15 (f) and 15d- 15 (f) of the Exchange Act). We carried out an evaluation, under the supervision and with the participation of our management, including our chief executive officer and chief financial officer, and under the oversight of our board of directors, of the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting based on the framework set forth in Internal Control — Integrated Framework (2013) issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission. Based on that evaluation, our management concluded that our internal control over financial reporting was ~~not~~ effective as of December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 ~~, due to a material weakness in internal control over financial reporting related to segment reporting described below. The company had ineffective process- level controls over the disclosures required in accordance with FASB ASC 280, Segment Reporting, resulting from ineffective risk assessment of factors that are relevant to assessing whether operating segments can be aggregated~~ . KPMG LLP, the company' s independent registered public accounting firm, who audited our consolidated financial statements included in this Report, ~~has also~~ issued its report ~~an adverse opinion~~ on the effectiveness of our ~~the company' s~~ internal ~~control~~ controls over financial reporting , which ~~. KPMG' s report~~ is included in Part II, Item 8 of this report under the caption " Financial Statements and Supplementary Data " ~~. Remediation Plan In response to the material weakness, we have begun implementing process and control improvements to address the above material weakness including: a. Enhancing our risk assessment process, focusing on factors that could impact our financial reporting, including related disclosures. b. Further enhancing our process- level controls related to the company' s segment reporting. Management believes evidence of effectiveness of the remediation steps can be achieved within the next year and we intend to regularly report to the Audit Committee on progress and results of the remediation plan. The material weakness in our internal control over financial reporting will not be considered remediated until the remediated controls operate for a sufficient period of time and management has concluded, through testing, that these controls are operating effectively. No system of controls, no matter how well designed and operated, can provide absolute assurance that the objectives of the system of controls will be met, and no evaluation of controls can provide absolute assurance that the objectives of the system of controls will be met, and no evaluation of controls can provide absolute assurance that all control deficiencies or material weaknesses have been or will be detected. There is no assurance that the remediation will be fully effective~~ . (c) Changes in Internal Control Over Financial Reporting ~~Except for the identification of the material weakness described above, there~~ There were no changes in our internal control over financial reporting during the fiscal quarter ended December 31, ~~2023~~ 2024 , that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, our internal control over financial reporting. Employees and consultants are responsible for making sure that any transaction in Securities for Immediate Family Members covered by this Policy comply with this Policy. C. " Immediate Family Members " means: i) all family members, or anyone else, who resides with a Covered Party; ii) any entity whose Securities transactions a Covered Party controls, directs or influences; and iii) any family members who do not live in the Covered Party' s household but whose securities transactions are directed by the Covered Party or are subject to their influence or control (including, but not limited to, parents or children who consult with the Covered Party before they trade in Securities). D. " MNPI " means material, nonpublic information. i. " material information " means any information that a reasonable investor would consider important in making an investment decision. Positive or negative information may be material. ii." nonpublic information " means information that has not been disseminated in a manner making it available to investors generally. As a general rule, information is not considered public until it is considered absorbed and evaluated by investment markets, for example through posting on Morningstar' s website, press releases, media outlets, or filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (" SEC "). Morningstar considers information to be properly disseminated after completion of one full trading day after the information is released to the public. iii. Examples of MNPI: quarterly or year- end financial or operating results; significant acquisitions or dispositions; significant legal proceedings or government investigations; significant cyber security events; and changes in executive officers or directors. " Securities " includes stocks, debt securities, options, restricted stock units, warrants and other convertible securities, as well as derivative instruments. F." trade" or" trading" or" transacting" includes any purchase, sale, loan, donation, gift, or any other transfer or disposition of securities or any offer to engage in the transactions above. 2. Insider Trading Prohibition Covered Party (ies) may not trade a Security of Morningstar or direct any other person to trade a Security of Morningstar while being aware of MNPI concerning that Security or Morningstar, nor may a Covered Party communicate or " tip " to any other person any such MNPI. In addition, Covered Parties who, in the course of their work, learn of MNPI about another company, may not trade in Securities of that company, or direct any other person to trade in Securities of that company, and may not communicate or " tip " to any other person any such MNPI. If a Covered Party is aware of MNPI concerning Morningstar when his or her employment or service relationship terminates, that person may not trade in Morningstar Securities until that information has been publicly released or is no longer material. 3. Limits on Trades in Morningstar Securities – Blackout Periods There are two types of Blackout Periods Morningstar uses: A. " Quarterly Earnings Blackout Periods " Covered Parties may not transact in Morningstar Securities during the period beginning on the close of trading on the Nasdaq Global Select Market on the last day of the applicable Morningstar fiscal quarter and ending at the open of business on the second business day after the date of the public release of the financial results for the fiscal quarter or year (for example, by means of a press release or a government filing). Morningstar' s Chief Legal Officer, Corporate Secretary, or their designees, will provide notification to Covered Parties alerting them when a quarterly Blackout Period begins and ends. However, absence of that notification does not relieve Covered Parties from compliance with this section III. B. " Event- Specific Blackout Periods " Morningstar reserves the right to impose trading Blackout Periods from time to time when, in the judgment of Morningstar' s Chief Legal Officer, or his or her designees, a Blackout Period is warranted. A Blackout Period may be imposed for any reason, including Morningstar' s involvement in a material transaction, legal matter, or other event. The existence of, or rationale for, an event- specific Blackout Period may be announced only to those who are aware of the transaction or event giving rise to the Blackout Period. If a Covered Party is made aware of the existence of an event- specific Blackout Period, that Covered Party should not disclose the existence of such Blackout Period to any other person. Individuals that are subject to event- specific Blackout Periods will be contacted by the Morningstar' s Chief Legal Officer, Corporate Secretary, or their designees, when these periods are instituted and may not transact in Morningstar Securities until they have been notified by the Chief Legal Officer, or his or her designees, that the Event- Specific Blackout Period has expired. Even if a Blackout Period is not then in effect, a Covered Party may not trade in Morningstar Securities if they are aware of MNPI about Morningstar. The prohibition on trading while being aware of MNPI about Morningstar extends to transactions in shares issued upon exercise of stock options or upon vesting of restricted stock units granted under a Morningstar stock incentive plan. 4. Trading Pre- Clearance Requirement for Certain Covered Parties Members of the Board of Directors and Executive Leadership Team, and other individuals who have been notified by the Company that they are subject to the trading pre- clearance requirements set forth in this Policy, must obtain pre- clearance from Morningstar' s Chief Legal Officer, Corporate Secretary or their designees (each an " Approving Person ") before engaging in any transaction involving Morningstar Securities, © 2024 Morningstar. All Rights Reserved. 3 including, for the avoidance of doubt, gifts and entry into 10b5- 1 plans (as defined below). All individuals who are required to obtain pre- clearance will be notified from time to time by the Approving Persons, of the applicable pre- clearance or other procedures applicable to them. The Approving Persons are under no obligation to approve a transaction submitted for pre- clearance and may determine not to permit a transaction, even if it would not violate federal securities laws or a specific provision of this Policy. The fact that a particular intended trade has been denied pre- clearance should be treated as confidential information and should not be disclosed to any person unless authorized by the Approving Person. If a request for pre- clearance is approved, the individual receiving pre- clearance has 72 hours to effect the transaction (or, if sooner, before commencement of a Quarterly Earnings or Event- Specific Blackout Period). If an individual who has received pre- clearance becomes aware of MNPI after receiving pre- clearance, but before the trade has been executed, that individual must not effect the pre- cleared transaction. Morningstar' s approval of any particular transaction under this pre- clearance procedure does not insulate any person who receives such pre- clearance from liability under the securities laws and does not constitute legal advice. Under the applicable laws, the ultimate responsibility for determining whether an individual is aware of MPNI about Morningstar rests with that individual in all cases. 5. Other Restrictions Morningstar considers it improper and inappropriate for Covered Parties to engage in short- term or speculative transactions in Morningstar Securities or in other transactions in Morningstar Securities that may lead to inadvertent violations of insider trading laws. Accordingly, transactions by Covered Parties in Morningstar Securities are subject to the following restrictions: A. Short Sales. A Covered Party may not engage in short sales of Morningstar Securities (sales of Securities that are not then owned), including a " sale against the box " (a sale with delayed delivery). B. Publicly Traded Options. A Covered Party may not engage in transactions in publicly traded options on Morningstar Securities (such as puts, calls, and other derivative securities) on an exchange or in any other organized market, including over- the- counter or custom options. C. Derivatives and Hedging Transactions. A Covered Party may not enter into derivative or hedging transactions intended to reduce their risk of owning Morningstar Securities, while still maintaining ownership of such Securities. D. Standing Orders. A standing order is an instruction given to a broker to trade Securities on specific terms provided by the individual placing the " order ". Standing orders should only be placed for a brief duration of time, which should not exceed 72 hours. A standing order that is placed during an open trading window must not remain open such that a trade would execute during a Blackout Period. A standing order placed with a broker to trade stock at a specified price leaves the individual with no control over the timing of the transaction. A standing order transaction executed by the broker when a Covered Party is aware of MNPI may result in unlawful insider trading even if the standing order was placed at a time when the Covered Party did not possess MNPI. E. Margin Accounts and Pledges. A Covered Party may not pledge more than 15 % of the total number of Morningstar Securities which they beneficially own as collateral for a loan, or hold more than that number of Morningstar Securities in a margin account. Securities held in a margin account or pledged as collateral for a loan may be sold by the broker if a Covered Party fails to meet a margin call or by the lender in foreclosure if the Covered Party defaults on the loan. A Covered Party may not have control over these transactions as the Securities may be sold at certain times without the Covered Party' s consent. A margin or foreclosure sale that occurs when a Covered Party is aware of MNPI may, under some circumstances, result in unlawful insider trading. A margin or foreclosure sale of a significant number of Morningstar Securities at one time could put undue pressure on the price of those Securities, to the detriment of shareholders or other market participants. Because of this danger, a Covered Party should exercise caution in holding any Morningstar Securities in a margin account or pledging Morningstar Securities as collateral for a loan and must report such activity to the Chief Legal Officer, or his or her designees, for monitoring. © 2024 Morningstar. All Rights Reserved. 4 F. Trading on a Short- Term basis. Any Morningstar Security purchased on the open market by a member of the Board or any Morningstar executive officer (the" Reporting Persons") or their immediate family members must be held for a minimum of six (6) months and are subject to short- swing profit liability. 10b5- 1 plans do not exempt individuals from complying with short- swing profit rules or liability under Section 16 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the " Exchange Act "). 6. Transactions Not Subject to this Policy A. The withholding by Morningstar of shares to satisfy a tax obligation of an employee relating to the vesting or exercise of an equity award made under any of Morningstar' s stock- based compensation plans is not prohibited by this Policy. B. Transferring fully vested Morningstar Securities between brokerage accounts does not constitute a " transaction " for purposes of this Policy. C. Accepting a grant of Securities issued to you by Morningstar does not constitute a " transaction " for purposes of this Policy. 7. 10b5- 1 Plans Rule 10b5- 1 (c) under the Exchange Act permits insiders of a company to establish written trading plans (commonly referred to as " 10b5- 1 plans ") that can be useful in enabling insiders to plan ahead and reduce the risk of trading on the basis of MPNI, or the appearance of trading on the basis of MNPI. Provided a 10b5- 1 plan is approved in accordance with this Policy, individual trades executed as specified by a 10b5- 1 plan are not subject to the pre- clearance procedures or Blackout Periods set forth above. A. Qualifications To qualify as a 10b5- 1 plan for purposes of this Policy, the plan must be approved in advance by an Approving Person. Individuals requesting approval of a 10b5- 1 plan should allow at least five business days for that approval. One of the factors that the Approving Person, may consider in determining whether to approve a 10b5- 1 plan is compliance with Morningstar' s applicable stock retention requirements. B. Requirements A 10b5- 1 plan must meet the following minimum requirements: 1. 10b5- 1 plans can only be adopted or modified (or terminated) when the requesting person is not aware of MNPI and there are no Blackout Periods; 2. 10b5- 1 plans are subject to a cooling- off period between adoption or modification of a plan and trading. The length of the cooling- off period depends on who you are: i. For all Reporting Persons, the first trade under the 10b5- 1 plan may not occur until after the later of (a) 90- days after the adoption, or modification, of the Rule 10b5- 1 Plan or (b) two business days following disclosure in Form 10- K or 10- Q of the Company' s financial results for the fiscal quarter in which the 10b5- 1 plan was adopted or modified (but not to exceed 120 days after adoption or modification of the Rule 10b5- 1 Plan). ii. For all others, the first trade under the 10b5- 1 plan may not occur until 30- days following the 10b5- 1 plan adoption or modification. iii. For the avoidance of doubt, these cooling- off periods do not apply to 10b5- 1 plans adopted by Morningstar. 3. 10b5- 1 plans must have a minimum term length of six months from adoption; 4. 10b5- 1 plans designed to effect one open- market trade of the total amount of Securities are permitted, but only one such single- trade 10b5- 1 plan is permitted over the course of a 12- month period; and 5. 10b5- 1 plans must include a representation in the plan certifying that at the time of adoption or modification of the 10b5- 1 plan, the individual (i) is not aware of MNPI about the issuer or its Securities and (ii) the individual is adopting the contract, instruction or plan in good faith and not as part of a plan or scheme to evade the prohibitions of Rule 10b5- 1. © 2024 Morningstar. All Rights Reserved. 5 For more information about how to establish a 10b5- 1 plan, contact the Approving Persons. Morningstar reserves the right to disapprove any submitted plan, and to suspend or instruct an individual to terminate any 10b5- 1 plan that it has previously approved. An Approving Person' s, approval of any 10b5- 1 plan is not a determination by the Company or the Chief Legal Officer that any specific 10b5- 1 plan is sufficient to satisfy the requirements of Rule 10b5- 1 under the Exchange Act. Morningstar discloses the adoption, modification, and termination of 10b5- 1 plans and certain other pre- set trading arrangements by its Reporting Persons in its quarterly reporting with the SEC on Forms 10- K and 10- Q. 8. Violations The Chief Legal Officer, or his or her designees, investigates any allegation of insider trading or violations of this Policy involving a Covered Party. Upon determining that a violation or possible insider trading violation has occurred, the Chief Legal Officer, or his or her designees, will report its recommendation for resolution to the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer. They will review the Chief Legal Officer' s findings and will discuss the matter with the Covered Party believed to have violated the policy as appropriate. The Chief Executive Officer in consultation with the Chief Legal Officer may impose sanctions against the Covered Party, as they deem appropriate under the circumstances. Appropriate sanctions may include, without limitation: A. The immediate unwinding of the transaction. B. A forfeiture of any profit from the transaction. C. Termination of employment. D. Notification by Morningstar to the CFA Institute or other professional standards bodies for employees who are CFA charter holders or candidates in the CFA program. E. For insider trading violations, notification by Morningstar to the SEC or other relevant authority, if deemed appropriate, of the alleged violation and cooperation with the SEC or other local authority in any enforcement action and / or prosecution of the individual (s) involved. 9. Reporting Requirements Any Covered Party who suspects that this Policy has been or may have been violated should immediately notify the Chief Legal Officer or Corporate Secretary or may utilize the Morningstar Ethics Hotline. The Morningstar Ethics Hotline, which is confidential, is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week at morningstar. ethicspoint. com. When in doubt about the appropriateness of any conduct related to this Policy, contact the Chief Legal Officer or Corporate Secretary to seek guidance before taking any action. Covered Executives This Policy applies to any current or former " executive officer, " within the meaning of Rule 10D- 1 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, of the Company or a subsidiary of the Company (each such individual, an " Executive "). This Policy shall be binding and enforceable against all Executives and their beneficiaries, executors, administrators, and other legal representatives. Recoupment Upon Financial Restatement If the Company is required to prepare an accounting restatement due to the material noncompliance of the Company with any financial reporting requirement under the securities laws, including any required accounting restatement to correct an error in previously issued financial statements that is material to the previously issued financial statements, or that would result in a material misstatement if the error were corrected in the current period or left uncorrected in the current period (a " Financial Restatement "), the Compensation Committee shall cause the Company to recoup from each Executive, as promptly as reasonably possible, any erroneously awarded Incentive- Based Compensation, as defined below. No- Fault Recovery Recoupment under this Policy shall be required regardless of whether the Executive or any other person was at fault or responsible for accounting errors that contributed to the need for the Financial Restatement or engaged in any misconduct. Compensation Subject to Recovery; Enforcement This Policy applies to all compensation granted, earned or vested (including, but not limited to, performance- based cash, stock, market stock units, options or other equity- based awards paid or granted to the Executive) based wholly or in part upon the attainment of any financial reporting measure determined and presented in accordance with the accounting principles used in preparing the Company' s financial statements, and any measure that is derived wholly or in part from such measures, whether or not presented within the Company' s financial statements or included in a filing with the SEC, including, but not limited to, adjusted revenue, adjusted EBITDA, stock price and total shareholder return (" TSR ") (" Incentive- Based Compensation "). Compensation that is granted, vests or is earned based solely upon the occurrence of non- financial events, including, but not limited to, base salary, restricted stock units or options with time- based vesting, or a bonus awarded solely at the discretion of the Board or Compensation Committee and not based on the attainment of any financial measure is not subject to this Policy. In the event of a Financial Restatement, the amount to be recovered will be the excess of (i) the Incentive- Based Compensation received by the Executive during the Recovery Period (as defined below), based on the erroneous data and calculated without regard to any taxes paid or withheld, over (ii) the Incentive- Based Compensation that would have been received by the Executive had it been calculated based on the restated financial information, as determined by the Compensation Committee. For purposes of this Policy, " Recovery Period " means the three completed fiscal years immediately preceding the date on which the Company is required to prepare the Financial Restatement, as determined in accordance with the last sentence of this paragraph, or any transition period that results from a change in the Company' s fiscal year (as set forth in Section 5608 (b) (i) (D) of the Nasdaq Listing Rules). The date on which the Company is required to prepare a Financial Restatement is the earlier to occur of (A) the date the Board or a Board committee (or authorized officers of the Company if Board action is not required) concludes, or reasonably should have concluded, that the Company is required to prepare a Financial Restatement or (B) the date a court, regulator, or other legally authorized body directs the Company to prepare a Financial Restatement. For Incentive- Based Compensation based on stock price or TSR, where the amount of erroneously awarded compensation is not subject to mathematical recalculation directly from the information in the Financial Restatement, then the Compensation Committee shall determine the amount to be recovered based on a reasonable estimate of the effect of the Financial Restatement on the stock price or TSR upon which the Incentive- Based Compensation was received and the Company~~ shall document the determination of that estimate and provide it to Nasdaq. Incentive- Based Compensation is considered to have been received by an Executive in the fiscal year during which the applicable financial reporting measure was attained or purportedly attained, even if the payment or grant of such Incentive- Based Compensation occurs after the end of that period. The Company may use any legal or equitable remedies that are available to the Company to recoup any erroneously awarded Incentive- Based Compensation, including but not limited to by collecting from the Executive cash payments or shares of Company common stock from or by forfeiting any amounts that the Company owes to the Executive. In addition to the foregoing, in the event that an Executive Officer fails to repay or reimburse erroneously awarded compensation that is subject to recovery, the Committee may require an Executive Officer to reimburse the Company for any and all expenses reasonably incurred (including legal fees) by the Company in recovering erroneously awarded compensation under this Policy. No Indemnification The Company shall not indemnify any Executive or pay or reimburse the premium for any insurance policy to cover any losses incurred by such Executive under this Policy. Notwithstanding the terms of any indemnification or insurance policy or any contractual arrangement with any Executive Officer that may be interpreted to the contrary, the Company shall not indemnify any Executive Officer against the loss of any Erroneously Awarded Compensation. No Executive Officer shall receive any advancement of expenses for disputes related to any loss of compensation by such person in accordance with this Policy, and no person shall be paid or reimbursed by the Company Group for any premiums paid by such person for any third- party insurance policy covering potential recovery obligations under this Policy. For this purpose, " indemnification " includes any modification to current compensation arrangements or other means that would amount to de facto indemnification (for example, providing the person a new cash award which would be cancelled to effect the recovery of any Erroneously Awarded Compensation). In no event shall the Company Group be required to award any person an additional payment if any Restatement would result in a higher incentive compensation payment. Exceptions The compensation recouped under this Policy shall not include Incentive- Based Compensation received by an Executive (i) prior to beginning service as an Executive or (ii) if he or she did not serve as an Executive at any time during the performance period applicable to the Incentive- Based Compensation in question. The Compensation Committee (or a majority of independent directors serving on the Board) may determine not to seek recovery from an Executive in whole or part to the extent it determines in its sole discretion that such recovery would be impracticable because (A) the direct expense paid to a third party to assist in enforcing recovery would exceed the recoverable amount (after having made a reasonable attempt to recover the erroneously awarded Incentive- Based Compensation and providing corresponding documentation of such attempt to Nasdaq), (B) recovery would violate the home country law that was adopted prior to November 28, 2022, as determined by an opinion of counsel licensed in the applicable jurisdiction that is acceptable to and provided to Nasdaq, or (C) recovery would likely cause the Company' s 401 (k) plan or any other tax- qualified retirement plan to fail to meet the requirements of Section 401 (a) (13) or Section 411 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, and the regulations thereunder. Other Remedies Not Precluded The exercise by the Compensation Committee of any rights pursuant to this Policy shall be without prejudice to any other rights or remedies that the Company, the Board or the Compensation Committee may have with respect to any Executive subject to this Policy. Rights of recoupment under this Policy are in addition to, and not in lieu of, any other remedies, rights, or requirements regarding the clawback or recoupment of any compensation under any other policy of the Company; provided, however, that any amounts clawed back or recouped under any other policy that would be recoupable under this Policy will count toward any required recoupment under this Policy and vice versa. Effective Date and Applicability This Policy has been adopted by the Board on October 6, 2023 and shall apply to any Incentive- Based Compensation that is received by an Executive on or after October 2, 2023. % 9Y, VQO51F. & E * M = BMA359F R]: /"] X; 7!' 26UG. the balance sheet date of the current and noncurrent portions of long- term obligations drawn from a line of credit, which is a bank' s commitment to make loans up to a specific amount. Examples of items that might be included in the application of this element may consist of letters of credit, standby letters of credit, and revolving credit arrangements, under which borrowings can be made up to a maximum amount as of any point in time conditional on satisfaction of specified terms before, as of and after the date of drawdowns on the line. Includes short- term obligations that would normally be classified as current liabilities but for which (a) postbalance sheet date issuance of a long term obligation to refinance the short term obligation on a long term basis, or (b) the enterprise has entered into a financing agreement that clearly permits the enterprise to refinance the short- term obligation on a long term basis and the following conditions are met (1) the agreement does not expire within 1 year and is not cancelable by the lender except for violation of an objectively determinable provision, (2) no violation exists at the BS date, and (3) the lender has entered into the financing agreement is expected to be financially capable of honoring the agreement. < / p > < / div > < a href =" javascript: void (0);" onclick =" Show. toggleNext (this);" > References < / a > < div style =" display: none;" > < p > Reference 1: http: / / fasb. org / us- gaap / role / ref / legacyRef < br >- Name Accounting Standards Codification < br >- Section S99 < br >- Paragraph 1 < br >- Subparagraph (SX 210. 5- 02 (22)) < br >- SubTopic 10 < br >- Topic 210 < br >- Publisher FASB < br >- URI https: / / asc. fasb. org / / 1943274 / 2147480566 / 210- 10- S99- 1 < br > < br > Reference 2: http: / / www. xbrl. org / 2009 / role / commonPracticeRef < br >- Topic 944 < br >- SubTopic 210 < br >- Name Accounting Standards Codification < br >- Section S99 < br >- Paragraph 1 < br >- Subparagraph (SX 210. 7- 03 (a) (16) (a) (2)) < br >- Publisher FASB < br >- URI https: / / asc. fasb. org / / 1943274 / 2147479440 / 944- 210- S99- 1 < br > < br > Reference 3: http: / / fasb. org / us- gaap / role / ref / legacyRef < br >- Topic 942 < br >- SubTopic 210 < br >- Name Accounting Standards Codification < br >- Section S99 < br >- Paragraph 1 < br >- Subparagraph (SX 210. 9- 03 (16)) < br >- Publisher FASB < br >- URI https: / / asc. fasb. org / / 1943274 / 2147479853 / 942- 210- S99- 1 < br > < / p > < / div > < a href =" javascript: void (0);" onclick =" Show. toggleNext (this);" > Details < / a > < div style =" display: none;" > < table border =" 0" cellpadding =" 0" cellspacing =" 0" > < tr > < td > < strong > Name: < / strong > < / td > < td style =" white- space: nowrap;" > us- gaap_LineOfCredit < / td > < / tr > < tr > < td style =" padding- right: 4px;
